Rusk Vows Backing For West Berlin

Secretary Pledges Stand Even If Reds Sign Peace Treaty

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared today the United States intends to maintain its presence in West Berlin even if the Russians sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

He told a conference of NATO foreign ministers that Premier Khrushchev should be left in no doubt on this point.

His statement was made at a closed meeting with the gist of his remarks given later to newsmen.

The American secretary of state said he anticipated that Khrushchev would pull the Berlin and German problem out of the bag soon.

Rusk pledged that the U.S. government will prevent any erosion of the Allied position in the divided German city and will seek to balk any Soviet move to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Conference sources gave that summary of remarks made by Rusk to the foreign ministers of the other 14 NATO countries who began a three-day meeting today.

Behind closed doors Rusk elaborated on a prediction voiced earlier in the formal opening session by Dirk U. Stikker, the new NATO secretary-general. Stikker predicted that Khrushchev was about to revive the Berlin question, possibly in a new form.

The intertwined Berlin and German problem—long regarded as the most dangerous cold war issue—has been largely dormant now for almost two years. Rusk thought that the Soviet Union now is about ready to make a new effort to pry the American, British and French garrisons out of West Berlin.

Conference sources said Rusk saw the situation this way:

Khrushchev may seek to throw the Western world off balance by coming forward with a few conciliatory gestures.

Tribute Paid By Kennedy With Medal

7 Astronauts Given 'Quiet' Greeting In Trip From Bahama

City Youth Serves On Astronaut Carrier

Fireman Apprentice William A. Blackhurst, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Blackhurst, 423 Grant St., is a member of the crew of the Lake Champlain, the aircraft carrier to which Alan B. Shephard, the United States' first space man, was transferred Friday after his pickup by helicopter.

Blackhurst attended East Liverpool High School and entered the Navy in October.

The 5,100-mile an hour flight through space last Friday, Kennedy said, was a common effort to which many contributed.

"I want to express on behalf of us all the great pleasure we have in welcoming Cmdr. Shepard and Mrs. Shepard here today," Kennedy said in greeting the couple on the White House lawn.

He added that everyone appreciates "the great service he has rendered our country."

"And we are also proud of Mrs. Shepard," Kennedy went on. He praised the other six astronauts and emphasized that "this was a common effort in which many men were involved."

"So I think we'll give them all a hand," the President said.

The bystanders did.

"I also want to pay a particular tribute to some who worked on this flight," Kennedy said, naming a number of National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials who worked on the flight that carried Shepard 115 miles into space Friday.

As he ticked off the roll of NASA officials Kennedy observed that the names are not too familiar.

"If the flight had not been a success, the names would have been very familiar," he said with a smile.

He noted also that the flight was made under conditions of full publicity, in a free society willing to "risk much and gain much."

Shepard, his wife and the six men he beat out for the honor of the first American space trip had just flown to the White House by helicopter from Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. The astronauts flew in from Grand Bahama Island where Shepard had been under observation after his history-making feat. Mrs. Shepard was flown in just ahead of them from Virginia Beach, Va.

Reading the citation to Shepard from NASA, Kennedy called it a "civilian award for a great civilian accomplishment."

"I want again to express our appreciation to Alan Shepard," he said. "We are very proud of him."

He handed Shepard "this decoration," with a joke about it coming from the ground up.

Kennedy had just dropped the medal to the wooden floor of the platform erected on the White House grounds for the ceremony.

Union's Head Cites Need To Create Work

Health Of Economy Termed Problem In Meany's Address

Despite foreign crises, the nation's economic health is the main problem facing all Americans, AFL-CIO President George Meany told an audience of several hundred Saturday afternoon at the dedication of the new $337,000 headquarters of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters on Route 7.

Meany declared: "The real problem for labor, management and government is to join together to find jobs for the millions seeking work. We can't have a healthy economy with nearly seven per cent of the work force unemployed."

"The Russians believe our system is based on greed and they can stand by and wait for us to collapse," he said. "I don't believe our system will collapse, but there's something wrong with our economy when we can't grow industrially fast enough to provide work," he continued.

Declaring that the key to the American way of life is the individual purchasing power at the base of the economic structure, Meany warned that sales abroad may help, but the bulk of the market is at home.

"And no market can reach those with no money to buy," he emphasized. "It's not labor's job alone to keep the American economy healthy."

Although an economic recovery has been predicted, the labor chief warned "there is no sound reason to expect this pickup to have any great effect where we are most deeply concerned—putting America back to work."

Pointing out that each of the last four recessions has ended with a larger number of unemployed than before it started, Meany said, "When we have 'recovered', according to statistics, there still will be about 65 out of every 1,000 workers looking for jobs."

Auto Mishaps In City Injure 4 From Area

Wellsville Motorist Hurt When Car Hits 'Super Road' Pole

Four men and youths were injured, none seriously, in a series of weekend traffic accidents, East Liverpool police reported.

A Wellsville man was hurt when his auto went off the W. 8th St. section of the "super road" early Sunday and hit a utility pole; a Chester area man was injured in a downtown crash Saturday night and two East End youths were injured in a two-way crash Saturday afternoon.

James L. Jones, 40, of 362½ Main St., Wellsville, suffered a bruised chest and a broken tooth in the mishap at 4:20 a. m. Sunday at Shadyside Ave. and W. 8th St. He was treated at City Hospital.

Jones told police he fell asleep while traveling west. The entire front end of his 1954 two-door sedan was damaged when it struck the utility pole and also damaged an advertising sign owned by Lake Marwin, officers said.

Firemen were called to the scene when a fire started in the wiring of the damaged car. They disconnected the battery, they reported.

A collision between the cars of two Chester area men Saturday at 6:35 p. m. on W. 4th St. injured the right arm of Carl Mooney, 35, of the Washington School Rd., officers said.

The mishap also involved a 1959 model station wagon driven by Hayward Sullivan, 47, of Chester R. D. 1, police said. Mooney said he had parked his car and opened the left front door when it was hit by Sullivan's westbound vehicle.

There was damage to the right rear side, door and front fender and headlight of the Sullivan auto and the left front door and fender of Mooney's 1957 four-door, officers said.

Storms Tear Across U.S., Over 29 Dead

By The Associated Press

Violent storms and floods, the spring season's two-pronged disaster weapon, took a heavy toll in deaths and injuries over the weekend across broad sections of the mid-continent.

Property damage in the storm-battered sections of eight states was in the millions of dollars. Hundreds of persons were made temporarily homeless.

The flash floods and severe weather, including tornadoes, gusty winds, heavy rain and hail, were blamed for at least 29 deaths. Nearly 100 persons were injured.

The American Red Cross in St. Louis said arrangements were made to provide food, clothing, medical care and emergency shelter for an estimated 1,000 families in north central Arkansas, southeast Missouri, northeast Oklahoma, southern Illinois and Kansas.

Severe thunderstorms continued during the morning in many areas from Oklahoma and Kansas northeastward through the middle and upper Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region.

Tornadoes struck six communities in Arkansas Sunday, killing four persons. Three others were drowned in swollen streams in the state. Included were two persons who lost their lives in a flash flood in Harrison, one of the Senate Waits School Rights Speedup Bills

Kennedy Proposes Integration Action In 6 Month Period

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration asks Congress today for legislation to hasten desegregation of all racially segregated public schools.

Every school board operating a racially segregated public school would be required to adopt a desegregation plan within six months and file it with the secretary of welfare.

The school desegregation proposal was among six civil rights bills ready for introduction by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y. The six-point program is geared to carrying out the civil rights pledges of the 1960 Democratic platform.

Last September, President Kennedy, then the Democratic presidential candidate, appointed Clark and Celler as a committee of two to put the platform promises on civil rights into legislative form.

The desegregation plans would have to provide for "first-step compliance" not later than the start of the 1963-64 school year. They also would have to spell out the time and manner in which desegregation was to be achieved in each class and school.

Federal technical and financial assistance would be given under the bill to desegregating school districts. Provision also would be made for court enforcement in case school boards violated the duties imposed on them by the legislation.

Another of the Clark-Celler bills would make the Civil Rights Commission a permanent federal agency with strengthening fact-finding powers. The commission is due to expire Sept. 9.

Other bills would:

Laos Talks Lag Over Truce Plan

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The three-nation Laotian truce commission was scheduled to arrive in Vientiane today and there were hopes it would spur the lagging negotiations between the Western-royal government and the pro-Communist rebels.

So far the opposing factions have not even been able to agree on a site for military and political talks. Both the government and the rebels proclaimed a cease-fire last Wednesday, but three meetings between military representatives since then have failed to work out detailed conditions of the armistice.

About 200 Indian, Canadian and Polish diplomats and soldiers are coming to Laos to supervise and verify the cease-fire. They will separate into two groups, one based at Vientiane and the other at Xieng Khouang, the rebel capital in northeastern Laos.

The royal government has been trying to divorce military details of the cease-fire from the bigger political issues—formation of a coalition government and selection of a unified Latian delegation to attend the international conference on Laos opening in Geneva Friday.

The rebels want both military and political matters to be discussed together at Na Mone, inside their territory and 35 miles north of the Hin Heup cease-fire line.

When the rebels rejected government demands that military talks be held at Hin Heup, the government agreed to talk at Na Mone. But it insisted that the political talks should take place at Phon Hong, 15 miles south of the cease-fire line and inside government-controlled territory.

Out of the chaos which now characterizes the sun-bathed island, only one pattern emerges clearly—the pattern of Communist dictatorship.

Kasavubu Attempts Return Of Katanga To Central Control

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu's government says it will prosecute Katanga President Moise Tshombe for treason and will try to bring his breakaway province back under central government control.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko told a news conference Tshombe would be tried for a series of crimes, including the assassination of former Prince Patrice Lumumba. Kasavubu himself had ordered Lumumba handed over to Tshombe to prevent his escaping custody and regaining control of the government.

Tshombe was arrested April 26 after he walked out of a meeting of Congolese leaders called to try to work out a new form of government for the strife-torn nation. Tshombe accused Kasavubu of "selling out" to the United Nations.

IBOP

plaining the work force is increasing faster than ever.

In the last decade there was a net increase in the work force — new job-seekers minus those who retired or died — of approximately 800,000 a year, he said.

But in the next 10 years the net increase will not be 800,000 a year but 1,300,000, Meany said, commenting "We haven't been able to find work for an extra 800,000 a year. How are we going to find jobs for almost twice that many?"

To emphasize his point, Meany said that means finding about 25,000 jobs a week just to "break even."

Technological changes, especially automation, also are creating a problem, the AFL-CIO president continued, pointing out that last year alone nearly a million industrial jobs — those traditionally associated with the labor movement — "simply disappeared." Total employment was up, but industrial employment was down, he added.

"The American people, and especially American workers, must be aroused to a new sense of urgency. The labor movement must take the lead in arousing the nation; but first we must arouse ourselves.

"The man who has a job must realize that his security is tied in with the man who is out of work. The union that is growing must recognize it has a stake in the growth of all nations," he declared.

"We don't pretend to have all the answers. We do have a legislative program, an organizing program, and a political action program that we think would start our movement and our country in the right direction. But to get the program moving we need your help and the help of union members everywhere," Meany continued.

"You and your forefathers have seen the whole panorama of technical progress. Once the potters' work was little more than pottery in the narrow sense; now is a $3 billion a year industry linked with the most advanced electronics."

Labor has made a great contribution to both union and non-union working men, Meany related, pointing out each state has a workmen's compensation law because trade unionists were willing to fight for it.

The AFL-CIO chief was introduced by E. L. Wheatley, IBOP president, who called Meany "Mr. Labor" and pledged the IBOP's support of his policies and practices.

Wheatley declared the pottery industry is not dying, but said there is a need for "new blood and money."

In his opening remarks, he said the new headquarters "is not Wheatley's dream or castle on the lake" but the result of convention action. If it had been his choice, the headquarters would have been located near Washington where many other unions have international headquarters, Wheatley said.

Congressman Cleveland Bailey of Clarksburg, W. Va., whose wife is a native of East Liverpool, also spoke, pledging to continue to fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and for tariff protection.

John Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, gave the invocation and benediction. The program opened with a flag raising ceremony conducted by representatives of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.

Labor, management and government officials, including representatives of organized labor throughout the tri-state area and delegations from Brotherhood locals, attended the ceremony and open house. Refreshments were served.

Bomboko declined to specify just how Kasavubu's government would go about taking over Katanga. He said all Belgian advisers would be expelled from the province.

Katanga has the best disciplined and most effective army in the Congo, presumably loyal to Tshombe and commanded by white officers, many of them Belgian. The Katanga Cabinet appeared solidly behind Tshombe's earlier defiance of repeated U. N. demands that he get rid of all foreign military and political personnel. After his arrest, however, the provincial Cabinet took a more conciliatory tone toward the Leopoldville government and promised to discuss the U. N. demands for ouster of the foreigners.

between the 15 members of NATO. As an example, he spoke with great candor about Laos, South Viet Nam and Cuba—all areas where the Communist bloc is pressing the West.

Rusk said the happenings in those places are not isolated incidents but part of a coordinated Soviet testing of Western intentions and a probing for weak spots. He predicted that sort of thing would continue.

Rusk also reviewed the prospects for the deadlocked three-power nuclear test ban negotiations in Geneva. The Soviet demand for a three-man control board to replace a neutral administrator dims not only the chance of securing a nuclear test treaty but also bodes ill for general disarmament negotiations, Rusk explained.

The U.S. government has made no decision yet on whether to resume underground nuclear testing, Rusk said. He promised that America would consult fully with its NATO allies on the whole field of disarmament.

In addition to urging fuller, early consultation among the NATO members, Rusk at the current meeting will also urge a buildup of NATO's conventional military forces so it can answer small fire alarms with something besides an all-out nuclear response. Nuclear weapons would be kept at the ready.

Still The Best Bet To Win

Deep thought is being given to a question asked frequently since the failure of the anti-Castro invasion of Cuba:

Can the United States cope with the thing that Castro represents? Is a representative democracy any match for a ruthless dictatorship which is able to bend all circumstances to its purposes?

No American should answer the question without deep conviction about the weaknesses of dictatorship as well as the strength of representative democracy. And of the two sets of thoughts, the more important is the first — the weaknesses of dictatorship. They should not be underestimated.

Americans know all there is to know about the weaknesses of their own government. These have been revealed in sad succession since the time of George Washington.

Each new administration has brought its own set of weaknesses with it, and the Kennedy administration is no exception. It is groping to find a way out of the adversity strewn in its path. Its young men are growing older in a hurry, and some of its older men are proving they have grown no smarter with the passage of time.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY and his appointees and their curiously composed political party, which is a coalition of irreconcilable elements, will be with us at least four years. They will find their own way of doing things by trial and error as all governments in this country have done before them.

Whether this will turn out to be good, bad, or mediocre is indeterminate. But the Kennedy people will have their chance and they're on their way.

They are governing in a pattern that has been successful in the past, despite shortcomings. But their best bet to win is the fact they are opposing a system with a congenital weakness.

All dictatorships come to grief eventually on the arrogance of human beings who are allowed more power than they are capable of using wisely.

It is like the threadbare aphorism that all of us have heard about government—that the best kind would be a benevolent despotism, but there are no benevolent despots. Despotism always turns into tyranny.

EVENTUALLY, the dictator becomes a tyrant. He imposes his will and his ideas. His contemporaries learn to live in fear of his whims and caprices.

He lives in fear of being overpowered by his enemies, so he destroys them. Then he destroys his friends, lest they turn into enemies. And ultimately he destroys his usefulness as the head of a government, and that in turn weakens his country.

Every mistake he makes in thought is perpetrated in action because he cannot be overruled. With all criticism barred, he loses perspective and becomes his own expert. And with his life dependent on his political survival, he gets rid of all potential successors, thus guaranteeing a state of political chaos when his death occurs.

These are the weaknesses of dictatorship. They are the weaknesses that have discredited all dictators.

They are the weaknesses that made it necessary for human beings to write constitutions and take power out of the hands of despots.

The weaknesses are still there, gnawing at the vitals of all dictatorships, not excluding the Soviet Union and certainly not excluding its newest and smallest outpost, the dictatorship of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Best Wishes

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters dedicated its spacious new headquarters near here Saturday afternoon.

The event was highlighted by an address by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The union's new center is impressive. Its facilities are the most modern. All was not harmony before the structure was completed, however. There were many who saw no need for leaving the familiar brick building on W. 6th St. which had served as headquarters for years for the former NBOP and then for the IBOP when the union became international in name as well as scope.

Regardless of such feelings, the new building is now in use as the headquarters of the IBOP. The Review takes this opportunity to extend its best wishes to Brotherhood officials and to all others affiliated with the union on the occasion of the dedication ceremonies.

Talking About Campaign Funds

Are they talking about all campaign funds or just the other party's campaign funds?

When Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asks the Ohio General Assembly for stricter laws covering campaign spending, is he talking about a law to make everybody hew to the same line? Or is he, perhaps without intent, talking about a law that would give the Republican party fits while the Democratic party calmly relied on its labor union allies to raise and spend all the money necessary, plus throwing legions of organized campaign workers into the fray, plus indoctrinating their own people in a way that would be beyond the means of any political party that didn't own its own string of oil wells?

THIS HAS BECOME a ticklish question in the United States.

The duality of the Democratic party—the curious coalition of old-line Democrats and new-line unionists like Walter Reuther—never has been recognized in law and only rarely in public discussion.

Any curb on campaign spending which does not take into account the cheek-by-jowl operation of the Democratic party and the "labor party" is not worth taking seriously.

And there's a further fact that must be taken into account.

Whatever is done by one side in politics will be done in one form or another by the other side. It's like warfare, where every weapon begets a counterweapon. Corruption begets corruption; deceit breeds deceit.

The only way to stop the skulduggery is to pin responsibility on each candidate for money spent in his behalf, thereby making him his own enforcement agent.

If this were done and a spending limit were placed on every job, with forfeiture of the surplus as the penalty, campaign spending would become so pure so fast the corruptionists wouldn't know where to turn to do their next dirty work.

WHETHER GOV. DiSALLE is teeing off on all campaign spending, or only on the spending of Republicans, is indeterminate.

Experts would have to analyze his proposals first, to be sure.

But proposals that do not take into account the effect of labor unions in Democratic politics aren't worth the glossy paper they are inscribed on.

For the Republican party to match the manpower and organized effort of the unions would cost so much money that no one would attempt to collect that much.

Wasted Effort

If you have been saving cigarette package bands to help the blind, you may as well stop at once.

The bands are of no use whatsoever in obtaining free seeing-eye dogs, despite stories to that effect which have been going around the country for years.

The matter was called to our attention in a letter from a former reader who now resides in Toledo. An article from the magazine section of The Toledo Blade was included with the letter.

It quoted officials of the Toledo Society for the Blind; the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., New York City; The Seeing Eye, Inc., Morristown, N.J., and others as to the worthlessness of the cigarette bands so far as help for the blind is concerned.

The Toledo letter-writer explains her interest in the matter with this note: "My grandmother and a lot of other people around East Liverpool, Wellsville and Hammondsville are saving them (cigarette bands)."

So, to those concerned in the district, we suggest — continue to help the blind when possible, but cigarette bands are not the answer.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Mr. President: I don't dig your statement "a greater adversary than Russia is our own unwillingness to do what must be done." When you say "our" you must mean the people including me.

Would you do me a favor by taking the "MUST" out of the MIST? How can I be unwilling to do something when I don't know what it is?

What should I be doing? You want I should leap into Laos, challenge Castro to a duel, offer to help in the Algerian crisis or build my own spaceship to the moon?

I ain't met nobody who ain't sore over being fingered as a greater enemy of the U.S.A. than Khrushchev, Gromyko, Zorin and those boys. Sure I know Americans are living it up, rolling in luxury and a little bugged by de luxe upholstery.

You want they should sell the car, turn in the soft furniture, cut out the weekend auto trip and put less chicken in the chicken soup.

Would it help if I postponed my $2 haircut, cut the fishing trip and bought a smaller bungalow?

You got me groggy. Should I jump on the village green bandstand and say "Fellow citizens, you and me are worse foes of Uncle Sam than the U.S.S.R. Stop being adversaries?"

Lay it on the line, Mr. President. Tell me what I am unwilling to do. Blueprint my "unwillingness area." Call the turn, make it clear and put some "socko" into it. Leave no room for misunderstanding.

The people will go along. You will see the unwillingness do a fast fadeout. The "greater adversaries than Russia" will do the fastest disappearing act in history.

Gorggily yours, John Q. Citizen.

P.S.: Yes, even if it's higher taxes. Taxes will win no popularity contest but the people will pay through the nose rather than take the rap as greater enemies of America than Khrushchev.

The gland that controls growth in human beings is called the pituitary gland.

Check And Double Check

Is A New Wage Spiral At Hand?

By David Lawrence

The possibility of a setback in business is not a pleasant thing to discuss but what has just been hailed as a victory for President Kennedy, when Congress passed the new minimum wage bill, could turn out to be a measure that actually prolongs the present recession.

Up to now, David Lawrence it always has been thought to be the better part of wisdom to keep wage rates stable during a recession and wait for better times. But the Democrats in Congress have just taken a step which not only affects the 24 million workers who are covered by minimum wage laws but provides labor unions with the excuse to start a demand for a general wage increase.

Instead of permitting the nation to treat the wounds it has received as a result of the dislocation of the national economy by the steel strike, the unions which have the support of the Kennedy administration now have driven ahead to start a wave of wage increases.

The larger businesses will not be hurt as much as will small business. The new minimum wage law will cause the loss of jobs to many persons now employed. Small businesses generally will not be able to pay the increased wage and will have to cut down the number of their employes.

Congress knew that a serious disruption would occur and did heed the pleas of some small businesses when laundry workers and cotton gin employes were exempted from the provisions of the proposed law.

There is no doubt that small businesses will have to lay off employes so as to meet the higher payroll imposed on an already narrow margin of profit.

It was something of a surprise to see the House vote go up to 230 from the 216 affirmative votes cast on March 24. The opposition vote dropped from 203 to 196. What caused this shift?

THE ANSWER is that the administration played its political cards shrewdly, especially among House members from the South. The White House announced the other day that it is going to do something to alleviate the woes of the textile industry by providing quotas on foreign imports. This interests the South. Likewise, cotton gin employes were exempted. This also helped to win Southern votes.

A concession was also made to operators of laundries by exempting their workers. Though this hurts Negro employes, the result nevertheless was to gain votes in the South. The whole incident is being pictured as a blow to the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Apparently the administration has the political wherewithal to break down the Democratic party's conservatives in the South. The significance of what has just happened is that, by throwing a bone here and there, a number of votes in the House were obtained by the administration for the minimum wage bill.

The first of a series of increases will go into effect within four months for at least 2½ million workers.

The proprietors of the business establishments involved will have to begin soon to make provision for the increased compensation and this will mean considerable readjustment. For something more than a wage increase for the regular work week is involved. The rate goes up also on the time-and-a-half basis for overtime.

This is hardly the opportune moment for readjusting wage scales on a broad basis but the administration has plowed ahead irrespective of consequences. The unemployment compensation rolls will soon tell the story in increased applicants.

Shouldn't the minimum wage be increased? Certainly there is every reason for providing higher and higher compensation for everyone who has to face the decreasing purchasing power of the dollar. But there is a good time for such an adjustment and a bad time.

Recession months are not an occasion for further deterioration of the employment rolls. The period should be used to build a sound and stable economy so that wage increases will be paid out of an expanding prosperity and increased national growth.

The tragic part of the story is that, when the present recession drags on or is followed after a brief recovery by another dip, the cry will be for more spending by government. Yet the incentives so essential to a genuine recovery are being neglected and the drift is toward more and more makeshift remedies and distortions of the wage structure.

Dear Nephew: You think what you please about ignorance being bliss, but I will not agree with you. Granted that there are special situations where ignorance sees to bring blissfulness, there are many more situations where ignorance brings gray, grim misery.

It depends on whether you think it would be fun to be primitive and take your chances with primitive living. I had more experience with this than you are likely to have. Give me knowledge, even if some of it makes me blue. Or, to change the metaphor, hand me that apple, Eve, and I'll worry about the seeds.

I liked your description of the people in Canada who never listened to the radio, read a newspaper, or talked about contemporary problems. They were as ignorant, I suppose, as people are likely to be anywhere you are likely to go. But do you honestly believe they were happy?

I've been in that part of Canada, too. I was impressed with the thorough way they educate their kids even in remote schools, but I readily agree they are cut off from the world as far as what I now call "instant worry" is concerned.

But I did not believe they are happy. It looked more to me like being reconciled to endless hard work and nagging despair. They lack all the niceties that relieve the drudgery of rural existence. Let's say they are no unhappier than people elsewhere and settle for that. I don't believe they are happier.

Ignorance is not bliss, nor knowledge either. What would be blissful would be a state of mind that could insulate an individual against unhappiness. As I'm sure you must have noted, that remarkable woman, your Aunt Effie, possesses such a state of mind.

She can make herself impervious to unhappiness, if that seems to be the thing to do. Or if the circumstances call for unhappiness, she can fall in step with the mourners and gnash her teeth and tear her hair with the wildest of the Cassandras.

This is something I envy. My unhappiness control is sporadic. Just when I think I am taking the hurdles in my stride I slip on a pebble and bark my shins on three hurdles in a row. Notice, please, how I keep all my figures of speech seasonal. In track season, I use track and field stuff, in football season, basketball season and baseball season I use whatever is suitable for the occasion.

Anyway, I do not agree with you that ignorance is bliss, though granting that in some situations it appears blissful. In the long run, the ignorant are no happier than anyone else and I daresay they end up more miserable.

You must take into account, of course, that people so primitive they behave like children cannot be compared with people like you. The question is whether you would be better off if you went to some remote place to live where no one ever heard of any of the things that keep bothering you.

Regards to all.

President Hasn't Listed Hardships Yet

WASHINGTON

Since before his election President Kennedy has been putting emphasis on the idea of sacrifice ahead for the American people.

After 3½ months in office he hasn't requested the people to endure any hardships.

On the same day last week that he was asked to explain what sacrifices he had in mind, his administration indicated it was thinking of an income tax cut next year.

Last July 15, in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination, he said: "The new frontier of which I speak is not a set of promises—it is a set of challenges. It sums up not what I intend to offer the American people but what I intend to ask of them.

"It appeals to their pride, not their pocketbooks — it holds out the promise of more sacrifice instead of more security."

In his inaugural address Jan. 20 he said: "Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty. This much we pledge — and more."

(But this country, whether or not it would be wise to get involved in war on the Asian continent, has shown great hesitancy about moving into Laos to fight against the Communist-led Pathet Lao for the right-wing Laotian government the United States supports.)

Later in his inaugural Kennedy said: "My fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

Last week in Chicago, making a talk at a Democratic dinner, he left out the following two sentences from his prepared speech: "Our greatest adversary is not the Russians. It is our own unwillingness to do what must be done."

This constant talk of sacrifice, without sacrifice being asked for, and the statement about "our unwillingness to do what must be done" has been so puzzling that a reporter asked Kennedy at his May 5 news conference to explain.

(This was the same day Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon indicated the administration is studying the possibility of asking Congress next year to cut individual income taxes.)

But Kennedy's answer hardly came under the head of what might be considered "sacrifice." He said he thinks there are a number of things which can be usefully done.

"We are going to require a larger effort in space," he said. He explained he wanted a "responsible, consistant effort" by labor and management in missile production.

He said further he wants to persuade labor and management to "come to useful national conclusions" on the problems of prices and wages.

He said he wants a greater effort, nationally and in local communities, to improve education. In addition, he said he wants the American people to try for more equal opportunity all people in this country, regardless of creed or color.

It's questionable that any of these points come under the head of "sacrifice." And, if they don't, then the President still hasn't explained what all the talk of sacrifice means or calls for.

Formula For Failure

By Raymond Moley

There is a saying that military people like "to fight the last war." But if the military mind is frequently cartilaginous, that of the politician is normally osseous. No more dogmatic, superstitious or unflexible breed can be found among us. This is emphasized again as the Republican party prepares to select its next national chairman.

One of the two men under serious consideration for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is Rep. William E. Miller of New York. At a $50-a-plate dinner he announced that to put the position of chairman on a full-time, salaried basis would be "utterly ridiculous."

He has said that "a paid chairman would be nothing more than a glorified member of the staff at a fancy salary." He feels that "the chairman, working for a salary, would have in his mind all the time the thought that he would have to try to please everybody or be threatened with the loss of his job.

"But, whether I am in or out of Congress, I shall not be the national chairman if I have to serve on a salaried basis and take orders from a large group of 'employers' instead of being able to fulfill the function of national chairman as the party's political leader," Rep. Miller declares.

THIS POSITION is, under modern conditions, a perfect formula for defeat. At a time when some Republicans have realized that the running of even a county political organization relies for its success upon a full-time, salaried chairman, Rep. Miller's opinion applies to the office of chairman of a great national party.

It shows that a powerful element in the Republican party is so frozen in obsolete tradition that under normal political conditions future presidential and congressional elections will be lost.

This view goes far back to the Grand Old Party's distant past, to the chairmanships of John Wanamaker and Mark Hanna, when only men of wealth or lawyers, who could make money out of political practice, could afford to serve without salary.

It has been a tradition that has put on the party the stamp of "The Party of the Rich." It is a tradition that should be abandoned. The stamp should be expunged.

Of course there have been able men serving in Congress who have served as chairman. But the job of leader of a national party organization should receive a man's full time and attention. And a senator or representative, to serve his constituents well, has more than enough labor to occupy his full time and attention without taking on some outside, part-time job.

TO PERSIST in this tradition in view of the enormous organizational tasks a national chairman should do is dangerous folly. Not only does the tradition close the door on extremely capable men who could not accept the position on such terms. It robs the position of its just due, that of professionalism.

A real professional, well paid, with assured tenure would be dictated to by no "employers." Professilnal politicians in state and county organizations would respect and listen to such a man. And he could command the respect of that coy and cynical object of every politicianss attention, the press.

The principle of professionalism, of full-time, salaried chairmanships with established tenure has already been proved. The best state organizations have it.

Large and important counties have long since abandoned compromises concerning the office of their organization chairmen. Too many mediocrites or men who were able but couldn't put in sufficient time had been the difference between failure and victory in too many elections.

Private enterprise was a fierce competitor for managerial talent. So these organizations pay good men to do a hard job. Today our political parties should pay well for their men at the top.

To The Parks!

Americans, it has been said, are loving their national parks to death.

Park rangers, who among other jobs must keep people from feeding themselves to bears, are poised for the greatest onslaught in history this vacation season.

They counted 72,288,000 visits last year. The pastime of park-going grows with the population. And the Civil War Centennial is expected to attract additional visitors in 1961.

While war buffs tramp over battlefields, other Americans will be looking over the world's most extensive and varied park system, a public estate of 25,700,000 acres.

It stretches from snow-mantled Mount McKinley in Alaska to the snow-white beaches of Virgin Islands National Park in the Caribbean and from the flame-throwing volcanoes of Hawaii to the foaming, rocky coast of Maine.

The National Park Service looks after 29 national parks and 162 other areas. The largest single unit is Katmai National Monument, encompassing Alaska's Valley of 10,000 Smokes where volcanoes cleared their throats with devastating results in 1912. The park system's smallest unit is the dwelling where President Lincoln died in Washington, D.C.

In Washington alone, the Park Service is responsible for 781 pieces of property, including the White House.

Still The Best Bet To Win

Deep thought is being given to a question asked frequently since the failure of the anti-Castro invasion of Cuba:

Can the United States cope with the thing that Castro represents? Is a representative democracy any match for a ruthless dictatorship which is able to bend all circumstances to its purposes?

No American should answer the question without deep conviction about the weaknesses of dictatorship as well as the strength of representative democracy. And of the two sets of thoughts, the more important is the first — the weaknesses of dictatorship. They should not be underestimated.

Americans know all there is to know about the weaknesses of their own government. These have been revealed in sad succession since the time of George Washington.

Each new administration has brought its own set of weaknesses with it, and the Kennedy administration is no exception. It is groping to find a way out of the adversity strewn in its path. Its young men are growing older in a hurry, and some of its older men are proving they have grown no smarter with the passage of time.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY and his appointees and their curiously composed political party, which is a coalition of irreconcilable elements, will be with us at least four years. They will find their own way of doing things by trial and error as all governments in this country have done before them.

Whether this will turn out to be good, bad, or mediocre is indeterminate. But the Kennedy people will have their chance and they're on their way.

They are governing in a pattern that has been successful in the past, despite shortcomings. But their best bet to win is the fact they are opposing a system with a congenital weakness.

All dictatorships come to grief eventually on the arrogance of human beings who are allowed more power than they are capable of using wisely.

It is like the threadbare aphorism that all of us have heard about government—that the best kind would be a benevolent despotism, but there are no benevolent despots. Despotism always turns into tyranny.

EVENTUALLY, the dictator becomes a tyrant. He imposes his will and his ideas. His contemporaries learn to live in fear of his whims and caprices.

He lives in fear of being overpowered by his enemies, so he destroys them. Then he destroys his friends, lest they turn into enemies. And ultimately he destroys his usefulness as the head of a government, and that in turn weakens his country.

Every mistake he makes in thought is perpetrated in action because he cannot be overruled. With all criticism barred, he loses perspective and becomes his own expert. And with his life dependent on his political survival, he gets rid of all potential successors, thus guaranteeing a state of political chaos when his death occurs.

These are the weaknesses of dictatorship. They are the weaknesses that have discredited all dictators.

They are the weaknesses that made it necessary for human beings to write constitutions and take power out of the hands of despots.

The weaknesses are still there, gnawing at the vitals of all dictatorships, not excluding the Soviet Union and certainly not excluding its newest and smallest outpost, the dictatorship of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Best Wishes

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters dedicated its spacious new headquarters near here Saturday afternoon.

The event was highlighted by an address by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The union's new center is impressive. Its facilities are the most modern. All was not harmony before the structure was completed, however. There were many who saw no need for leaving the familiar brick building on W. 6th St. which had served as headquarters for years for the former NBOP and then for the IBOP when the union became international in name as well as scope.

Regardless of such feelings, the new building is now in use as the headquarters of the IBOP. The Review takes this opportunity to extend its best wishes to Brotherhood officials and to all others affiliated with the union on the occasion of the dedication ceremonies.

Talking About Campaign Funds

Are they talking about all campaign funds or just the other party's campaign funds?

When Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asks the Ohio General Assembly for stricter laws covering campaign spending, is he talking about a law to make everybody hew to the same line? Or is he, perhaps without intent, talking about a law that would give the Republican party fits while the Democratic party calmly relied on its labor union allies to raise and spend all the money necessary, plus throwing legions of organized campaign workers into the fray, plus indoctrinating their own people in a way that would be beyond the means of any political party that didn't own its own string of oil wells?

THIS HAS BECOME a ticklish question in the United States.

The duality of the Democratic party—the curious coalition of old-line Democrats and new-line unionists like Walter Reuther—never has been recognized in law and only rarely in public discussion.

Any curb on campaign spending which does not take into account the cheek-by-jowl operation of the Democratic party and the "labor party" is not worth taking seriously.

And there's a further fact that must be taken into account.

Whatever is done by one side in politics will be done in one form or another by the other side. It's like warfare, where every weapon begets a counterweapon. Corruption begets corruption; deceit breeds deceit.

The only way to stop the skulduggery is to pin responsibility on each candidate for money spent in his behalf, thereby making him his own enforcement agent.

If this were done and a spending limit were placed on every job, with forfeiture of the surplus as the penalty, campaign spending would become so pure so fast the corruptionists wouldn't know where to turn to do their next dirty work.

WHETHER GOV. DiSALLE is teeing off on all campaign spending, or only on the spending of Republicans, is indeterminate.

Experts would have to analyze his proposals first, to be sure.

But proposals that do not take into account the effect of labor unions in Democratic politics aren't worth the glossy paper they are inscribed on.

For the Republican party to match the manpower and organized effort of the unions would cost so much money that no one would attempt to collect that much.

Wasted Effort

If you have been saving cigarette package bands to help the blind, you may as well stop at once.

The bands are of no use whatsoever in obtaining free seeing-eye dogs, despite stories to that effect which have been going around the country for years.

The matter was called to our attention in a letter from a former reader who now resides in Toledo. An article from the magazine section of The Toledo Blade was included with the letter.

It quoted officials of the Toledo Society for the Blind; the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., New York City; The Seeing Eye, Inc., Morristown, N.J., and others as to the worthlessness of the cigarette bands so far as help for the blind is concerned.

The Toledo letter-writer explains her interest in the matter with this note: "My grandmother and a lot of other people around East Liverpool, Wellsville and Hammondsville are saving them (cigarette bands)."

So, to those concerned in the district, we suggest — continue to help the blind when possible, but cigarette bands are not the answer.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Mr. President: I don't dig your statement "a greater adversary than Russia is our own unwillingness to do what must be done." When you say "our" you must mean the people including me.

Would you do me a favor by taking the "MUST" out of the MIST? How can I be unwilling to do something when I don't know what it is?

What should I be doing? You want I should leap into Laos, challenge Castro to a duel, offer to help in the Algerian crisis or build my own spaceship to the moon?

I ain't met nobody who ain't sore over being fingered as a greater enemy of the U.S.A. than Khrushchev, Gromyko, Zorin and those boys. Sure I know Americans are living it up, rolling in luxury and a little bugged by de luxe upholstery.

You want they should sell the car, turn in the soft furniture, cut out the weekend auto trip and put less chicken in the chicken soup.

Would it help if I postponed my $2 haircut, cut the fishing trip and bought a smaller bungalow?

You got me groggy. Should I jump on the village green bandstand and say "Fellow citizens, you and me are worse foes of Uncle Sam than the U.S.S.R. Stop being adversaries?"

Lay it on the line, Mr. President. Tell me what I am unwilling to do. Blueprint my "unwillingness area." Call the turn, make it clear and put some "socko" into it. Leave no room for misunderstanding.

The people will go along. You will see the unwillingness do a fast fadeout. The "greater adversaries than Russia" will do the fastest disappearing act in history.

Gorggily yours, John Q. Citizen.

P.S.: Yes, even if it's higher taxes. Taxes will win no popularity contest but the people will pay through the nose rather than take the rap as greater enemies of America than Khrushchev.

The gland that controls growth in human beings is called the pituitary gland.

Is A New Wage Spiral At Hand?

Last week in Chicago, making a talk at a Democratic dinner, he left out the following two sentences from his prepared speech: "Our greatest adversary is not the Russians. It is our own unwillingness to do what must be done."

This constant talk of sacrifice, without sacrifice being asked for, and the statement about "our unwillingness to do what must be done" has been so puzzling that a reporter asked Kennedy at his May 5 news conference to explain.

(This was the same day Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon indicated the administration is studying the possibility of asking Congress next year to cut individual income taxes.)

But Kennedy's answer hardly came under the head of what might be considered "sacrifice." He said he thinks there are a number of things which can be usefully done.

"We are going to require a larger effort in space," he said. He explained he wanted a "responsible, consistant effort" by labor and management in missile production.

He said further he wants to persuade labor and management to "come to useful national conclusions" on the problems of prices and wages.

He said he wants a greater effort, nationally and in local communities, to improve education. In addition, he said he wants the American people to try for more equal opportunity all people in this country, regardless of creed or color.

It's questionable that any of these points come under the head of "sacrifice." And, if they don't, then the President still hasn't explained what all the talk of sacrifice means or calls for.

Formula For Failure

By Raymond Moley

There is a saying that military people like "to fight the last war." But if the military mind is frequently cartilaginous, that of the politician is normally osseous. No more dogmatic, superstitious or unflexible breed can be found among us. This is emphasized again as the Republican party prepares to select its next national chairman.

One of the two men under serious consideration for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is Rep. William E. Miller of New York. At a $50-a-plate dinner he announced that to put the position of chairman on a full-time, salaried basis would be "utterly ridiculous."

He has said that "a paid chairman would be nothing more than a glorified member of the staff at a fancy salary." He feels that "the chairman, working for a salary, would have in his mind all the time the thought that he would have to try to please everybody or be threatened with the loss of his job.

"But, whether I am in or out of Congress, I shall not be the national chairman if I have to serve on a salaried basis and take orders from a large group of 'employers' instead of being able to fulfill the function of national chairman as the party's political leader," Rep. Miller declares.

THIS POSITION is, under modern conditions, a perfect formula for defeat. At a time when some Republicans have realized that the running of even a county political organization relies for its success upon a full-time, salaried chairman, Rep. Miller's opinion applies to the office of chairman of a great national party.

It shows that a powerful element in the Republican party is so frozen in obsolete tradition that under normal political conditions future presidential and congressional elections will be lost.

This view goes far back to the Grand Old Party's distant past, to the chairmanships of John Wanamaker and Mark Hanna, when only men of wealth or lawyers, who could make money out of political practice, could afford to serve without salary.

It has been a tradition that has put on the party the stamp of "The Party of the Rich." It is a tradition that should be abandoned. The stamp should be expunged.

Of course there have been able men serving in Congress who have served as chairman. But the job of leader of a national party organization should receive a man's full time and attention. And a senator or representative, to serve his constituents well, has more than enough labor to occupy his full time and attention without taking on some outside, part-time job.

TO PERSIST in this tradition in view of the enormous organizational tasks a national chairman should do is dangerous folly. Not only does the tradition close the door on extremely capable men who could not accept the position on such terms. It robs the position of its just due, that of professionalism.

A real professional, well paid, with assured tenure would be dictated to by no "employers." Professilnal politicians in state and county organizations would respect and listen to such a man. And he could command the respect of that coy and cynical object of every politicianss attention, the press.

The principle of professionalism, of full-time, salaried chairmanships with established tenure has already been proved. The best state organizations have it.

Large and important counties have long since abandoned compromises concerning the office of their organization chairmen. Too many mediocrites or men who were able but couldn't put in sufficient time had been the difference between failure and victory in too many elections.

Private enterprise was a fierce competitor for managerial talent. So these organizations pay good men to do a hard job. Today our political parties should pay well for their men at the top.

To The Parks!

Americans, it has been said, are loving their national parks to death.

Park rangers, who among other jobs must keep people from feeding themselves to bears, are poised for the greatest onslaught in history this vacation season.

They counted 72,288,000 visits last year. The pastime of parkgoing grows with the population. And the Civil War Centennial is expected to attract additional visitors in 1961.

While war buffs tramp over battlefields, other Americans will be looking over the world's most extensive and varied park system, a public estate of 25,700,000 acres.

It stretches from snow-mantled Mount McKinley in Alaska to the snow-white beaches of Virgin Islands National Park in the Caribbean and from the flame-throwing volcanoes of Hawaii to the foaming, rocky coast of Maine.

The National Park Service looks after 29 national parks and 162 other areas. The largest single unit is Katmai National Monument, encompassing Alaska's Valley of 10,000 Smokes where volcanoes cleared their throats with devastating results in 1912. The park system's smallest unit is the dwelling where President Lincoln died in Washington, D.C.

In Washington alone, the Park Service is responsible for 781 pieces of property, including the White House.

Chester VFW Post 6450 was host for the meeting of 10 district posts Some 140 attended.

Connell succeeds Joe Settimio and Mrs. Crimmel succeeds Mrs. Marjorie Lattamus, both also of Wellsburg.

Other district officers elected were Elwood Sloan of Follansbee, senior vice commander, Ernest Anderson of New Cumberland, junior vice commander, Clyde Ormsby, quartermaster, Don Maupin of Moundsville, judge advocate.

Ralph McElfresh of Pughtown, chaplain, Albert Molisky of Weirton, surgeon, Leonard Dewitt of Wellsburg, three year trustee and chief of staff of the southern part of the district, Alvin Lenhart of Follansbee, chief of staff for the northern part.

Mrs. Helen Connell of Weirton, guard, Mrs. Margaret Powell of Weirton, Mrs. Lattamus and Mrs. Rosilyn Kinder of Moundsville, all three one-year trustees.

Mrs. Alice Beaver of McMechen, secretary, Mrs. Dela Cruse and Mrs. Bessie Ringer, both of McMechen, Mrs. Helen Haynes of New Cumberland and Mrs. Hazel Briggs of Follansbee, all color bearers, Mrs. Jackie Ellison of Wellsburg, flag bearer, Mrs. Delores Komar of Follansbee, banner bearer, Mrs. Mary LeMasters of Wellsburg, patriotic instructor, Mrs. Mildred Tippins of McMechen, musician, and Mrs. Shirley Reed of Chester, historian.

A joint meeting was held in the City Hall auditorium, where the men also held their business meeting. The auxiliaries met at Post 6450 to conduct their business.

New Cumberland Post 3526 was awarded a membership trophy. Department officers present were Dave Lowery of Weirton, past commander, McElfresh, chaplain, and Mrs. Virginia Berger, chief of staff for the auxiliaries.

A dinner was served at Post 6450 by its auxiliary. Next meeting of district posts will be in June at the department convention in Huntington.

Palestine School Job Bids Slated Thursday

EAST PALESTINE — Bids will be opened Thursday noon for the city's $650,000 school project.

Bidding is expected to be highly competitive, as 30 contractors have taken out specifications on the project. The bidding will be in three categories — general contract, plumbing and electrical.

The major phase of the project is construction of a new 10-room elementary building. The other phase is a 6-room addition to the high school.

The work at the high school will be done first. The new section is expected to be put into use this fall. The elementary building probably will be completed next year.

Now's the time to serve lemonade and cookies on the porch! To make old-fashioned lemonade mix three-quarters cup each sugar and lemon juice with four cups of ice water. Serve over ice cubes in tall glasses and garnish with mint.

Legislature Waits Bill

Ohio's Budget Seen Test Of GOP's '60 Tax Stand

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Were the Republicans right or wrong two years ago when they almost solidly opposed a $310 million tax increase proposed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle?

The answer may come this week.

The GOP, now back in control of the legislature, is expected to report back to the floor of the House through a finance subcommittee a budget bill to run the state for the next two years.

DiSalle has asked the legislature for a record $2.2 billion in the 1961-63 budget. Some Republicans asserted in the 1960 election campaign that the 1959 legislature, at DiSalle's behest, had taxed Ohioans as much as $100 million more than necessary.

Now comes the proof of the pudding.

How much can the Republicans cut?

The final answer on that question won't be available for several weeks.

Even after budget cuts in the House, Republican senators are awaiting the big appropriations bill, pruning knives in hand.

Sen. William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, after 25 years' service in both House and Senate, finally has reached the No. 2 spot in the Senate—chairman of the Finance Committee. He's a rough and ready individual with a bent for economy. And right behind him stands the No. 1 man, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, who, himself, is a former Senate finance chairman.

Mechem publicly announced several weeks ago: "We're going to cut the fat out of that budget—and we're going to cut plenty."

On the original vote more than two weeks ago, five Democrats joined 19 Republicans—one GOP member was absent—to pass the controversial highway bill by a 24-13 vote. All opponents were Democrats.

Since that date, two Democrats who favored the bill have indicated they will vote to sustain the veto. They are Sens. Oliver Ocasek and Leo Dugan, both of Akron. Another Democrat who voted for the bill originally is ill and not expected to be on the Senate floor for the decision on overriding. He is Sen. John Corrigan of Cleveland.

The Republican who was absent on the original vote is Sen. Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs. He has pledged his vote in the attempt to override to Majority Leader Mechem.

So, with a loss of three votes and a gain of one, Mechem is assured of 22 votes to override. He needs 23.

Reports around the Statehouse are that he has persuaded one Democrat to desert the governor.

The veto was on a bill designed to give local governments every penny of the money the state collects from motor vehicle registrations. Local governments now get all the money except about $15 million a year used to operate the Department of Highway Safety, including the State Highway Patrol.

The Republican-sponsored measure proposes to take the cost of operating the Department of Highway Safety out of other Highway Department money. DiSalle and his highway director, Everett S. Preston, object to that procedure on grounds it would take from the state highway department money it needs to match federal contributions to the interstate highway construction program.

2 Drivers Penalized On Traffic Charges

Two motorists were fined for reckless operation at hearings today before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Fred Talbott of Glenmoor was fined $25. He was cited early today on the "super road" just inside Wellsville city limits.

Russell Cunningham of Hammondsville R. D. 1 was fined $20. He was cited last Tuesday following an accident at 15th and Main Sts.

Hearing Set Tuesday On Fighting Charges

A Municipal Court hearing for Richard Lisk of Dixonville, accused of disorderly conduct by fighting in a public place on April 28, was continued until 9 a. m. Tuesday to allow the defendant to summon witnesses.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff released Lisk on his own recognizance. He was taken into custody Saturday by Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. on an affidavit filed by Sylvia Fulmer, who court officials said operates Gene's Bar on E. 6th St.

Heart trouble is more common among men than among women, except at ages 75 and over.

3-Car Route 7 Crash Hurts Area Women

Five were injured, including two Newell women, in a three - car crash Sunday afternoon on Route 7 near the Mahoning County Line, the Lisbon State Highway Patrol reported.

Three others were hospitalized as a result of a rash of weekend traffic crashes in the area, the patrol said. They included two Youngstown men injured in a truck mishap near Highlandtown and a Steubenville woman injured near Salineville.

Ethel Freeland, 43, of Washington St., Newell, and Joan Freeland, 18, of Newell Heights were injured, along with three others, in the crash Sunday afternoon at 5:45.

They were passengers in the auto of Nancy Cox, 23, of 303 Harrison St., Newell, who was involved in a three-car crash.

The other drivers were Clair Swartzmiller, 31, of Weirton, and Ronald Lee Brown, 19, of Salem R. D. 5.

The patrol said Brown, going east, pulled onto Route 7, hitting Swartzmiller's car on the left side and spinning it into the path of the Newell woman.

James L. Cook, 34, of Steubenville, a passenger in Swartzmiller's car, suffered contusions of the back and chest and spinal strain, while Swartzmiller suffered a strained back. Another passenger, John Veselica, 30, of Weirton, suffered contusions of the forehead and abrasions of the body.

The patrol said Brown was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

The two Youngstown men, Gene R. Mellott, 26, the driver of two-ton 1956 model truck, and Glenn Mellott, 17, were injured when the vehicle overturned Sunday at 6:30 a. m. on State Route 39, four miles west of Wellsville near Highlandtown.

Mellott was driving west when he went off the right side of the road, overturned, and came to rest with the wheels of the vehicle on the ground.

The driver is in "good" condition today with a laceration of the scalp and possible skull fracture. The teen-age passenger is in "good" condition with a possible fractured left arm. The patrol said the driver possibly fell asleep.

Clarence Watson, 52, of 9th Ave., LaCroft was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way following a three car crash Saturday at 6:50 p. m. near Glenmoor.

The patrol said Watson, driving east, failed to yield the right-of-way to Hugh L. Smith, 25, of East Liverpool R. D. 1, causing Smith to apply his brakes and skid into Roberta M. Pugh, 37, of John St., who was halted. The mishap occurred at the intersection of Route 267 and County Rd. 424. There were no injures.

Mrs. Lenora Mayo, 67, of Steubenville suffered a fractured right knee in a crash Saturday at 5 p. m. on Route 39 at the intersection of Route 164 near Salineville.

She was a passenger in the auto of Genglind Mayo, 68, of Steubenville who failed to halt for a stop sign and struck Anthony F. Seveh, 44, of 177 E. Main St., Salineville. Mayo was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. The woman was taken to Gill Memorial Hospital in Steubenville.

Albert E. Allmon, 18, of Columbiana was cited on a charge of driving left of center after he lost control while applying the brakes, slid sideways, and sideswiped Ronald W. Dicken, 22, of Columbiana Sunday at 2:45 p. m. on Middleton Rd., near Route 7. There were no injuries.

Firemen 'Dressed Up' To Fight House Fire

NAVARRE, Ohio (AP) — When the house of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baechel caught fire, one of the best-dressed fire departments ever to battle a blaze answered the call.

Nazi Victim Describes SS Mass Killings

JERUSALEM (AP)—A matronly Jewish woman told the Eichmann trial court today of being shot by men of the Nazi SS elite guard, falling into a mass grave, fighting her way up through bodies for air and surviving.

Mrs. Rifka Yosilevska, a native of Russia who was unable to testify last week because of a mild heart attack, was restrained on the witness stand. But her voice broke when she told of seeing her little daughter shot.

In the Pinsk area in 1942, she said, Jews were rounded up by the hundreds and taken to a burial pit.

Her account of what happened then held the 700 spectators spellbound at the 30th session of the trial of Adolf Eichmann, who is charged with being a chief accomplice in the Nazi extermination of six million Jews.

"We were taken, some in a truck and others forced to run behind it," Mrs. Yosilevska said.

Those in the truck, arriving first, were stripped and shot by the time they got to the freshly dug pit. Her father refused to undress, she said, and his clothing was torn from him.

"There were four devils, SS men, they shot us.

"The children wanted to run. It was hard to hold on to them. We hurried, we were sort of anxious to get it all over. My mother, my grandmother, she was 80 years old and had a baby in her arms, my father, my sister.

"Then it came my turn. The German asked me 'Who shall I shoot first?' I did not answer. My child cried out and was shot. He aimed at me, holding onto my hair and pulling my head around. I heard a shot. Then he ordered me to watch and there was another shot. Then I fell into the pit but I felt nothing."

Mrs. Yosilevska halted for a moment as though to get her breath.

"I felt a sort of heaviness and thought I was dead. Then I was choking. There were people falling on me. I must be alive, I thought. I could rise. I prayed for another bullet. Then I managed to climb toward the top but I felt bodies pulling at me, pulling me down, down—

"I crawled out of the pit. There were bodies everywhere. I wanted to see the end of the stretch of bodies but I could not see the end. Some were not dead. I called for my little girl. I could not find her."

Mrs. Yosilevska said she wandered, naked, dazed and wondering if she was half mad into nearby fields where she lay for three days. Several shepherds saw her and threw stones at her. She remained motionless and convinced them hers was a dead body.

A farmer found her and helped her hide until the area was overrun by the Soviet army.

Israeli Attorney General Gideon Hausner announced at the beginning of the trial that immunity from arrest would be extended to two former Nazi SS officers —Col. Walter Huppenkothen and Maj. Wilhelm Hoettl — so they could come to testify on behalf of Eichmann.

But Hoettl told a reporter in Vienna he will not testify at the trial—at least not now. "I have said all I know about Eichmann at the Nuernberg trials and it's in the archives," Hoettl said.

sleep Sunday night "than I did the night before the flight.

"I am very mindful of the honor which has been bestowed on me, an honor which really should go to the hundreds of people who made my flight possible."

Shepard said the work has been going on about two years "in a devoted effort to put a man in space, and it is really to these hundreds of people that the accolades of today should go."

He said he was most anxious to talk to the President about the flight, and eager "to tell you all and to tell the world about it."

The speechmaking was all over when Mrs. Kennedy spoke quietly to her husband—the President had forgotten to pin the medal on Shepard.

The decoration is the NASA Distinguished Service Medal.

Amid the laughter of onlookers, Kennedy after pinning the medal on Shepard's lapel then waved him before television cameras, saying "everybody wants to see it."

Shepard appeared completely relaxed and at ease during the brief outdoor ceremony.

Dignitaries and rank-and-file members of the White House staff cheered Shepard when he arrived, when Kennedy introduced him, and when he completed his short talk.

At one point Shepard remarked that last Friday's flight into space was thrilling, "but today even surpasses last Friday."

From the White House rose garden the men went to Kennedy's offices. The astronauts sat on two davenports flanking the fireplace.

There were television cameras in the presidential office, but no audio. So the President's words to the space team were not immediately public.

Mrs. Kennedy led Mrs. Shepard away to another part of the White House to have coffee.

Shepard, on his landing at Andrews gave out a vast understatement: "We have learned that the world and the United States is pretty pleased at what we have all done."

By "we" he specified that he included the other six astronauts and their scientific associates.

Arrangements for officers to attend the Youth Synod at Wooster College June 19-24 featured a meeting of the United Presbyterian Youth of the Steubenville Presbytery Sunday afternoon at the Amsterdam United Presbyterian Church.

The purpose of the June session is to train the Presbytery youth officers for leadership education. The youths in turn will hold workshops and training sessions for other youth at the annual Senior High Presbytery retreat at the Beaver Creek Camp at Grimms Bridge over the Labor Day weekend.

The theme at Wooster will be "The Ministry of Youth."

Attending Sunday's meeting were Gary Leughmyer of Wellsville, district 1 chairman; James Baxter of East Liverpool, outreach chairman; Virginia Gray of Richmond, moderator; Jim Murdock of Hopedale, vice moderator; Eldon Trubee of Minerva, stated clerk; Cheryl Evans of Brilliant, treasurer; Macy Martt of Amsterdam, faith chairman; Carol Myers of Jewett, fellowship chairman, and Dale Antram of Malvern, citizenship.

Diane Dunlap of Mechanicstown Penny Wilson of Toronto, Penny Purviance of Scio and Ed Rensi of Hopedale also attended.

The Rev. Gene Phlegar of Bergholz has been appointed to replace the Rev. Emmett Kelawae of Richmond as the minister advisor of the youth group. Mrs. Leroy Antram, wife of the minister of Malvern and Mechanicstown churches, is one of the advisors.

Mrs. Antram and Rev. Phlegar will accompany the group to the Youth Synod meeting at Wooster.

Verdict Awaited On Theft Charge

A verdict is expected today in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon in the burglary trial of Philip Regis Monac of Midland, charged with the theft of a tool box valued at approximately $100 from the hallway of the home of George Brand of Elizabeth St. on Jan. 21, 1960.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard swore in the jury this morning. The defense claimed that the value of the tools would not exceed $65, which would make the charge a misdemeanor.

The jury is Lorena Hancock, Helen McPherson, Grace Wolfe, Merle Maxine Starr and Charles Straight, all of East Liverpool; Betty Rager of Wellsville; Janet Leider, Albert Sanderson and Enice E. Brown, all of Salem.

The next criminal case will begin Tuesday morning. It will be the non-support case of Ross Chaplow of New Waterford, indicted for failing to provide for two minor children, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said.

4 Student Musiciaans Get Superior Ratings

Four Wellsville junior high students received superior ratings in a district instrumental solo contest Saturday at Canton McKinley High School at Canton.

Peggy Lloyd, an eighth grader, and Steven Clark, a ninth grader, each received the top ratings for clarinet and coronet solos, respectively, while Terry O'Hara and Richard Allison, both eighth graders, received the rating for trumpet solos.

Gary Moore, a seventh grader, was rated "excellent" for a flute solo while Tom Morris, an eighth grader, won a "very good" for his clarinet solo.

They were accompanied by Susanna Culp and Roger Hicks. Ted Koenig, band director, was in charge of the trip.

Bridge Film Available

LISBON — A film entitled "Mackinac Bridge Diary" will be available for showing to school groups the last week in May, County Supt. James L. McBride said today. The film will be presented by the secretary of the St. Agnace, Mich., Chamber of Commerce who will be doing research on a family history in the county during the week. School groups may contact his office to make arrangements, McBride said.

Officer Shot; Area Search Seeks Culprit

Police in the tri-state area hunted today for a 1952 model auto from which a shot was fired early Sunday morning at a West Virginia State Police corporal near Bethany.

Cpl. D. W. Meyers of the Wellsburg detachment is in "good" condition today in the Wheeling Hospital with injuries suffered when his patrol car wrecked after he had been shot at from a green auto bearing mud-covered Ohio license tags.

The 35-year-old officer was in pursuit of a suspicious car on West Virginia Route 88 and had drawn alongside it when one of the four occupants fired a gun.

The bullet shattered a window in the front door of the passenger side of the cruiser and caused Meyers to lose control and crash into a ditch.

He was treated for facial lacerations caused by the flying glass, a wrenched back and hip and leg injuries. He lay injured for almost an hour on the nearly-deserted section of Route 88 before he was discovered by two passing Bethany College students.

According to authorities, Cpl. Meyers was out alone in the cruiser investigating thefts in the vicinity of Bethany College. At about 1:30 a.m., he spotted what he termed a suspicious looking 1952 model green Ford sedan with four occupants. Meyers said the car was being driven without headlights and that the license tags were partially obscured by mud, apparently purposely.

He gave pursuit, pulling alongside the auto with his siren wailing and the red blinker light flashing. A passenger in the back seat of the auto fired at him.

Roadblocks were set up by police in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, but the sedan had not been discovered today.

4-H Club To Choose New Officers Tonight

LISBON — Officers will be elected at the meeting of the Columbiana County 4-H Dairy Club tonight at 8 at the Lisbon Grange Hall, west of here.

Emil Stanley of Beloit will discuss dairy equipment and milk handling systems. A discussion also will be held on the junior dairy show and judging schedule and a film, "The Greatest Milking Hand," will be screened.

Joseph V. Burger, county 4-H agent, urged all 4-H members with dairy projects to attend.

Osteopaths Hit Plan On Merger

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Osteopathic Association has come out against the proposed merger of the California Osteopathic Association and the California Medical Association.

The Ohio group's 125-member house of delegates adopted a resolution Sunday condemning the merger negotiations between the two California organizations.

The Ohio osteopaths, in supporting their national association, urged that the osteopathic profession maintain its identity as a separate and distinct school of medicine.

Dr. Donald J. Ulrich, a Kent surgeon, was elected president of the Ohio association at its 63rd annual convention here. Other new officers are Dr. Robert Sheldon, Toledo, vice president, and Dr. Jack D. Hutchison, Columbus, treasurer. Dr. Donald Siehl, Dayton, was named president-elect.

Meeting with the association are 10 affiliated groups, one of which, the Ohio Society of Osteopathic Surgeons, elected Dr. Theodore Classen of Cleveland its president. Dr. Harry Elston Jr. of Warren was named secretary - treasurer, and Dr. Jack Wright, Toledo, president-elect.

Lisbon Woman Hurt When Struck By Car

LISBON — Amelia Michaels, 74, of N. Market St. is in Salem City Hospital in "fairly good" condition with a fractured right leg and head injuries suffered when she stepped into the side of a car driven by Jack D. Riddle, 27, of Lisbon R. D. 5.

Riddle told police he was driving south on N. Market St. at 5:55 p.m. Saturday and at the corner of Market and High the Michaels woman walked into the rear of his car.

City's Trucks Launch Spring Cleanup Drive

Launching the city's annual spring cleanup drive, incinerator department trucks made collections today in the North Side-Maplewood-Beechwood area.

The two-week campaign will swing into the West End district Tuesday. Trucks will cover these streets: Fairview St., Division St., Hague Ave., Shadyside Ave., Church St., Denver St., Edwards Ave., Park Pl., Jethro, W. 8th St., Ridgeway Ave., Fenton St., Moore St., Claiborne St., May St., Florence St., John St., Burford St., Alton St. and California Hollow.

Mishaps Hurt 2 Youngsters

Two children injured in falls were admitted to City Hospital over the weekend. Eight other persons were treated at the hospital for injuries suffered in various mishaps.

Suzanne Kerns, 12, daughter of Mrs. Sara Ann Kerns of Rogers R. D. 1, is in "fairly good" condition today with possible back injuries suffered when she fell from a grape vine swing Saturday evening while visiting in East Liverpool.

John Brown Jr., 14, son of John Brown, 903 Bank St., is in "fairly good" condition today with a fracture of the left arm suffered in a fall while playing Sunday afternoon.

In a fall at home Saturday night, Mrs. Effie Harman, 75, of 419 4th St., Chester, suffered a bruise of the head. All the others were treated Sunday.

Mrs. Grace Zerkle of Washington St., Newell, was treated for cat bites of the right wrist, arm and leg.

Mrs. Celestine Salter, 245 W. 6th St., injured her right foot in a fall at home.

James Carr, 10, son of Denzil Carr of LaCroft, received a laceration of the face when struck by a ball.

Pamela Waide, 10, daughter of Russell Waide of Chester R. D. 1, suffered a puncture wound of the foot when she stepped on a nail.

A lithograph showing the first-floor seating plan and the location of doors and stairways at Ford's Theater in Washington was uncovered early this year in the Harvard College Library Theater Collection.

Copenhaver Delays Ruling In Nott's Case

Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver said he expects to confer this afternoon with Patrolman William E. Nott's physician on the officer's physical condition before reaching a decision on his suspension.

The officer was suspended last week by Chief Americo Radeschi for "inefficiency" because he allegedly missed 315 days' work in the last 52 months.

During a hearing Saturday morning, Nott admitted missing the work but claimed the cruiser beat affected his health and asked transfer to a foot patrol.

The director can affirm, modify or disapprove of the suspension. If he upholds the chief's order, he will determine how long the officer will be off duty.

How Much Do You Know About MORTUARY SERVICES?

★ YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES?

There are good reasons why everyone should be familiar with mortuary details and customs.

For one thing, you never know when you might have to act for the family or help friends with a funeral arrangement. For another, you never know what special conditions you might have to face. An accident, or a death far from home—perhaps overseas—frequently poses some knotty problems. Still a third good reason lies in the fact that some pre-knowledge greatly reduces your mental stress in a difficult period—and most important—helps you to guard against overspending.

We have the answers to the problems you'll face, and we've put them all in a handy little pocket-size booklet for you.

● Ask for a copy of "WHAT EVERY PERSON SHOULD KNOW." Write, phone or just drop in—there's no obligation of any kind.

National Guardsmen were sent into Harrison, a community of 6,500, after Gov. Orval E. Faubus declared martial law. Crooked Creek overflowed and sent a wall of water 14 feet high through the streets of the northwest Arkansas town. Two men drowned and an elderly couple was missing in Harrison. Damage was estimated by Mayor Dene O. Hester at $5 to $10 million. A youth drowned in flooded Sugar Creek near Springdale, the seventh storm-related death in Arkansas.

Tornadoes also pounded South Fork, Mo., about 60 miles northeast of the severe storm area in Arkansas, injuring eight persons. A dozen persons were hurt in a tornado which hit an area of Kansas and Missouri adjoining Kansas city. Tornadic winds lashed areas near Stamford, in westcentral Texas, northern Oklahoma and in Madisonville, Ky.

Many rivers and streams, fed by heavy spring rains, overflowed across sections of Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Missouri. The Missouri River was near flood stage at several points in Missouri.

Beaver Grange Picks Miss Allen As Queen

During the Beaver County Pomona Grange May Day program Saturday at Big Knob Grange, Miss Linda Allen of South Beaver Grange was crowned queen and Ted Wilson of Brighton Grange was named king.

Hookstown Grange candidates were Miss Patsy Searight and Donald McElhaney. From Fairview in Ohio Township were Miss Eiloise Sheeler and Charles Doutt.

How long this will go on is Castro's decision but anybody's guess. It appears that he will maintain the repressive measures instituted after the abortive invasion in order to retain the iron grip he now has on the country.

Castro's police machinery began spreading its reign of terror within a few hours after the announcement of the invasion April 17. Conservative estimates place the total at 50,000 arrested throughout the island, although news from the provinces is scant.

G-2 agents and militiamen, apparently working from prepared lists as well as from tips from government-organized spy committees in every neighborhood, began arresting "unreliables" indiscriminately.

The American press was a special target. Their offices were occupied and looted or both. Almost all the American correspondents were arrested or forced into hiding and refuge. AP staffer Robert Berrellez was arrested the afternoon of the invasion, held for more than two weeks by the G-2 and then transferred behind the grim walls of La Cabana prison, greatly overcrowded like the rest of the Cuban prisons.

Churches offered no haven. Militiamen surrounded them, closed the doors and searched the worshipers inside.

The jailing of priests was common.

The arrests have diminished considerably, and many of the prisoners are being released. But anyone who has ever uttered a doubtful word about the Castro regime walks in fear today.

The mass repression appears to have smashed the anti-Castro underground. Many were nabbed in the roundup. Many others took refuge in Latin-American embassies, which are bulging beyond capacity. The underground is depressed and demoralized—and yet angry.

At Wellsville Sessions

Area Free Methodists Air Details Of Camp Meeting

Plans for the annual camp meeting July 6-16 at the Anderson Blvd. grounds were discussed at the weekend conference of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church at the new Free Methodist Church in Wellsville.

The Rev. R. L. Page, district superintendent, was in charge.

Announcement of summer activities was made at the Saturday night session.

The first event will be the Pittsburgh Conference Youth convention June 9-10.

The Senior High Youth camp is scheduled Aug. 14-18 and the CYC cadet camp is set Aug. 21-25.

At the annual camp meeting, the Rev. A. J. West of Apollo will be the principal evangelist and Al Revell of North Tonawanda, N. Y., will be the youth worker.

Committees will include: the Rev. Milo Smith of Chester, public relations; Mrs. Virginia Torrence of East Liverpool, commissary department; Fred Schreffler of Follansbee, children's activities; the Rev. L. A. Tomb of East Liverpool, housing, and the Rev. S. H. Estel, also of East Liverpool, maintenance.

The district Women's Missionary Societies met Saturday afternoon and made plans for "missionary day" at the camp July 7-9. The committee in charge of the arrangements is comprised of Mrs. Dorothy Page of East Liverpool, president, Mrs. Hazel Haire of New Brighton, Mrs. Ellen Canon of Weirton, and Mrs. Maxine Smith of Chester.

The guest speaker will be Norman Cooke, missionary to Egypt.

A nominating committee also was named to prepare a slate of officers for the July meeting. It includes, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Dorothy Smith of New Brighton, Mrs. Canon, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Jane Tomb of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Gertrude Baker of New Brighton, treasurer, announced that $6,800 has been raised toward the missionary goal of $9,000. The drive will close June 30.

Delegations attended from every church of the Rochester District.

The homecoming and dedication services for the host church on Sunday were attended by an overflowing crowd.

65 At Installation Rites Of Women's Vocal Group

Mrs. Joan Smith of Pittsburgh, a founder of the Golden Triangle Chapter, installed officers at the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at Tice's Restaurant. Some 65 attended.

Using the four singing parts of a quartet as an illustration, she inducted:

Mrs. Madalyn Mack, president; Mrs. Marjorie Stover, vcie president; Mrs. Wilma Laughlin, treasurer; Miss Jo Ann Vannoy, corresponding secretary, and Miss Marian Pratley, recording secretary.

Mrs. Ann Claypool assisted with the installation ceremony. Mrs. Smith and the new president were presented with carnation corsages.

Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, retiring president, who acted as mistress of ceremonies, presented Mrs. Mack with a gavel.

Selections by the "The Elo Tones" were "Time After Time" and "Old Kentucky Home." The newly - formed quartet is comprised of Mrs. Edith Alexander, Mrs. Nancy Pryor, Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Stover.

Glenn Woods, director, spoke on the results of the score sheet compiled by the judges at the recent district competition at Baltimore.

The retiring president was presented with farewell gifts for her two years in office. Mrs. Clara Hall read an original poem written by Mark Abrams and made the presentation of a jewel case with the Sweet Adeline emblem, along with a membership pin and necklace.

The chapter octet sang "Lover" and "Breezing Along." A vocal solo was given by Rev. John Mostoller, accompanied by Miss Vannoy. Woods directed the chorus in several selections.

Mrs. Stover read "High Lights of the Convention" written by Mrs. Rinehart.

Mrs. Mary Tarbuck, historian, displayed the scrap book.

Refreshments were served by the social committee. The buffet table was centered with a large white figurine, encircled with orchid maline and sweet peas, and flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. Mack presided at the silver tea service.

Mrs. Jan Dietz was in charge of decorations. Mrs. Sonja Rose provided black name tags shaped like large musical tones. Mrs. Smith was accompanied by her husband.

An early rehearsal is scheduled for Friday, when the group will practice for an appearance May 17 for the Lambskin Club of Beaver Falls.

Saturday caused slight injury to Dan Swager, 16, of Oakland Ave. and Vic Wolfe, 17, of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

They were passengers in a 1953 two-door operated by Francis L. Owens, 17, of 607 Palissey St., which was involved in a collision at the right - angle intersection with a 1958 two-door sedan driven by John H. Turner, 59, of 1162 Erie St., officers said.

Swager complained of knee injuries and Wolfe had apparent injuries of an elbow, police said. They were advised to go to their family physicians.

Turner was headed north on Wedgewood and Owens was driving east on Globe, officers said. Police said Turner applied his brakes and skidded into the right rear of the Owens car, causing it to spin around and go onto the sidewalk at the northeast side of the intersection.

There was heavy damage to both cars — the front end of Turner's auto and the entire right side of the Owens vehicle, police said.

Meanwhile, a belated report was filed Saturday on a mishap Friday in which a parked auto drifted away and hit a home on Blackmore St.

The 1958 two - door sedan, owned by Dr. Milton M. Gottlieb of Blackmore St., drifted away from a parking place and hit the home of John B. Hales, also of Blackmore St., breaking a window and damaging siding, police said.

Dr. Gottlieb's wife had parked the auto in front of her home long enough to take in some mail when it drifted away, police said. The entire front end of the car was damaged, police said.

At Wellsville Sessions

Plans for the annual camp meeting July 6-16 at the Anderson Blvd. grounds were discussed at the weekend conference of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church at the new Free Methodist Church in Wellsville.

The Rev. R. L. Page, district superintendent, was in charge.

Announcement of summer activities was made at the Saturday night session.

The first event will be the Pittsburgh Conference Youth convention June 9-10.

The Senior High Youth camp is scheduled Aug. 14-18 and the CYC cadet camp is set Aug. 21-25.

At the annual camp meeting, the Rev. A. J. West of Apollo will be the principal evangelist and Al Revell of North Tonawanda, N. Y., will be the youth worker.

Committees will include: the Rev. Milo Smith of Chester, public relations; Mrs. Virginia Torrence of East Liverpool, commissary department; Fred Schreffler of Follansbee, children's activities; the Rev. L. A. Tomb of East Liverpool, housing, and the Rev. S. H. Estel, also of East Liverpool, maintenance.

Section Of Measure Called 'Sleeper'

Battle Brews On Ohio Liquor Bill

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A battle is brewing in the General Assembly over a liquor bill that so far has proceeded quietly along the legislative route.

The reason is a section of the bill that has been dubbed a real "sleeper" by liquor enforcement officials and a number of legislators, including one of the original sponsors of the measure.

The bill is aimed at cracking down on beer and liquor sales to minors, a problem that is becoming increasingly widespread and serious in Ohio.

Just about everybody aware of the problem concedes that its growth is the result of the language in the present law, which makes the permit holder who sells and the minor who buys equally responsible.

Can Take Advantage

This means that teen-agers can, and often do, take advantage of tavern keepers by offering false documents as proof of age. If the permit holder still refuses to sell, they have committed no crime. If he accepts the false evidence and makes the sale, they know he is "hooked" and stands to lose more than they do if he is caught.

The bill now awaiting floor action in the House would put more of the burden of blame on teenagers.

It would make it an offense for a juvenile to attempt to buy beer or liquor illegally or knowingly to offer false evidence of his age. If he were caught, he would be subject to prosecution as a juvenile delinquent.

This approach is approved by Ivan W. Smith, liquor enforcement chief, and others who are concerned about the sale to minors problem, including Rep. Ethel Swanbeck, R-Erie, a co-sponsor of the bill with Rep. Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot.

Floor Fight Possible

What promises to stir up a major floor fight, however, is another section of the bill which would allow a permit holder to defend himself in a minor sales case by showing that he:

DEMANDED and was shown a driver's license, draft card "or other official document that may be issued by any department or agency of this state."

KEPT the statement on file for inspection by enforcement officers.

Mrs. Swanbeck sees this section as an "escape clause" for permit holders who want to cheat on the law by selling to minors.

She says she did not envision the addition of the section to the bill and complains that she was not consulted about it by the subcommittee which wrote it.

Says Guilt Hampered

Smith has testified before the House Government Operations Committee that it might be impossible ever to convict a tavern keeper for a minor sales violation if the section goes into the law.

"We are in favor of putting more of the burden in these cases on the minors," he said, "but there should be no decrease in the responsibility of the permit holder. That would be the same as substituting the judgment of the minor for the judgment of an adult who has a special responsibility to the community in which he operates his business."

Smith also complains that he was not consulted by the subcommittee which drafted the so-called "sleeper."

He says he attended a meeting at which liquor industry lobbyists also were present, but no decision was reached. When he showed up the following week for the next scheduled subcommittee meeting, he says, neither the legislators nor the liquor lobbyists were present.

Not Told, He Says

An ally of Smith and Mrs. Swanbeck in the argument is another lobbyist, Rev. Lewis Berber of the Ohio Temperance League. He also views the defense clause as an "escape mechanism" that would provide permit holders with a loophole through the law.

Cassel, however, takes another view. As chairman of the subcommittee, he says there was no effort to relieve permit holders of any of their responsibility.

He says all three terms of the defense section must be met before they can claim defense. He also insists the "nuisance value" alone of the statement requirement will discourage tavern keepers from risking sales to minors.

Cards Suggested

He adds that the document provision opens the way for adoption of a "foolproof" identification card issued by the liquor department to adults who might have trouble proving their age.

But Smith says the department has no legislative authorization for such a system and, even if it did, the language of the defense section allows an option to the tavern keeper.

He maintains this still provides a loophole, because a driver's license or draft card is "unreliable" because it can be forged or used by someone other than its legal owner.

One interesting aspect of the controversy is that an identical defense section has been included in a Senate bill on the same subject.

Endorsed by Liquor Folk

In addition, the defense section has the wholehearted endorsement of Isadore Topper, lobbyist for the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association; George Hinde of the Wholesale Beer Association of Ohio, and Robert N. Krier of the Ohio Brewers Association.

Both the Senate and House bills have been recommended for passage by the committees which heard them. The House committee defeated a move by Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, to strike the defense section.

The next move is expected to come on the House floor, when another attempt to strike that clause is planned.

Mrs. Swanbeck says she will strongly support the move. If it fails and the defense section remains in the bill, she may be in the unhappy position of having to vote against a measure that bears her name.

In the meantime, she is marshaling all the forces she can to keep that from happening.

Program Staged By Elkton Group

The program opened with a piano solo by Marilyn Lee Baker, followed by group singing. Several skits were presented by Eleanor Milhoan, Edith Milhaon, Ruth E. Baker, Dorothy McCammon, Bee Moore, Dianne Cusick, Carolyn Cusick, Marilyn Y. Baker, Janice Moore, Gwen Sturgeon, Dianne Baker, Dianne Evans and Darlene Arter. Eight members of the Junior MYF presented a song.

Flower awards were given to: Mrs. Worthy Law of Lisbon, oldest mother present; Mrs. Harold Dixon, youngest grandmother; Mrs. Dean Ward, mother with the smallest waistline; Mrs. David Evans, for the longest hair, and Mrs. Delbert Brown, tallest mother.

Mrs. William L. Brown of Lisbon gave the opening prayer. Glora Jean Baker was mistress of ceremonies.

Panhandle Grocers To Meet In Wheeling

Scott Detrick of Louisville, Ky., president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, will address Northern Panhandle grocers at a banquet Wednesday at 7:15 in the Wheeling Elks Club.

The event is for members of the Wheeling Area Retail Grocers Association, which covers the six Northern Panhandle Counties of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler.

The WARGO Board of Directors includes Clarence V. Broomhall of Newell and Allan Recht and Max Kuntz of Weirton. Harold V. Ford of Wheeling is president.

If your cake has a tough crust the recipe may contain too little fat or sugar or too much flour; or you may have over-mixed the batter before baking.

U.S. Opens New 'Crisis' Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new cold war operation center has been set up by the State Department to keep round-the-clock watch on world crises.

Its function is to see that recommendations for dealing with crises are made promptly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and through him to President Kennedy and to make certain that the decisions reached by Kennedy and Rusk are promptly implemented.

Formation of the center and its responsibilities were disclosed Saturday by the State Department. The new agency is headed by Theodore C. Achilles, 55, a veteran foreign service officer who had a major role in drafting the North Atlantic Treaty.

Disclosure of the center's existence followed State Department announcement that Stephen E. Smith, 33, a brother-in-law of President Kennedy, had been appointed special assistant to Achilles.

Section Of Measure Called 'Sleeper'

Battle Brews On Ohio Liquor Bill

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A battle is brewing in the General Assembly over a liquor bill that so far has proceeded quietly along the legislative route.

The reason is a section of the bill that has been dubbed a real "sleeper" by liquor enforcement officials and a number of legislators, including one of the original sponsors of the measure.

The bill is aimed at cracking down on beer and liquor sales to minors, a problem that is becoming increasingly widespread and serious in Ohio.

Just about everybody aware of the problem concedes that its growth is the result of the language in the present law, which makes the permit holder who sells and the minor who buys equally responsible.

Can Take Advantage

This means that teen-agers can, and often do, take advantage of tavern keepers by offering false documents as proof of age. If the permit holder still refuses to sell, they have committed no crime. If he accepts the false evidence and makes the sale, they know he is "hooked" and stands to lose more than they do if he is caught.

The bill now awaiting floor action in the House would put more of the burden of blame on teenagers.

It would make it an offense for a juvenile to attempt to buy beer or liquor illegally or knowingly to offer false evidence of his age. If he were caught, he would be subject to prosecution as a juvenile delinquent.

This approach is approved by Ivan W. Smith, liquor enforcement chief, and others who are concerned about the sale to minors problem, including Rep. Ethel Swanbeck, R-Erie, a co-sponsor of the bill with Rep. Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot.

Floor Fight Possible

What promises to stir up a major floor fight, however, is another section of the bill which would allow a permit holder to defend himself in a minor sales case by showing that he:

DEMANDED and was shown a driver's license, draft card "or other official document that may be issued by any department or agency of this state."

KEPT the statement on file for inspection by enforcement officers.

Mrs. Swanbeck sees this section as an "escape clause" for permit holders who want to cheat on the law by selling to minors.

She says she did not envision the addition of the section to the bill and complains that she was not consulted about it by the subcommittee which wrote it.

Says Guilt Hampered

Smith has testified before the House Government Operations Committee that it might be impossible ever to convict a tavern keeper for a minor sales violation if the section goes into the law.

"We are in favor of putting more of the burden in these cases on the minors," he said, "but there should be no decrease in the responsibility of the permit holder. That would be the same as substituting the judgment of the minor for the judgment of an adult who has a special responsibility to the community in which he operates his business."

Smith also complains that he was not consulted by the subcommittee which drafted the so-called "sleeper."

He says he attended a meeting at which liquor industry lobbyists also were present, but no decision was reached. When he showed up the following week for the next scheduled subcommittee meeting, he says, neither the legislators nor the liquor lobbyists were present.

Not Told, He Says

An ally of Smith and Mrs. Swanbeck in the argument is another lobbyist, Rev. Lewis Berber of the Ohio Temperance League. He also views the defense clause as an "escape mechanism" that would provide permit holders with a loophole through the law.

Cassel, however, takes another view. As chairman of the subcommittee, he says there was no effort to relieve permit holders of any of their responsibility.

He says all three terms of the defense section must be met before they can claim defense. He also insists the "nuisance value" alone of the statement requirement will discourage tavern keepers from risking sales to minors.

Cards Suggested

He adds that the document provision opens the way for adoption of a "foolproof" identification card issued by the liquor department to adults who might have trouble proving their age.

But Smith says the department has no legislative authorization for such a system and, even if it did, the language of the defense section allows an option to the tavern keeper.

He maintains this still provides a loophole, because a driver's license or draft card is "unreliable" because it can be forged or used by someone other than its legal owner.

One interesting aspect of the controversy is that an identical defense section has been included in a Senate bill on the same subject.

Endorsed by Liquor Folk

In addition, the defense section has the wholehearted endorsement of Isadore Topper, lobbyist for the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association; George Hinde of the Wholesale Beer Association of Ohio, and Robert N. Krier of the Ohio Brewers Association.

Both the Senate and House bills have been recommended for passage by the committees which heard them. The House committee defeated a move by Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, to strike the defense section.

The next move is expected to come on the House floor, when another attempt to strike that clause is planned.

Mrs. Swanbeck says she will strongly support the move. If it fails and the defense section remains in the bill, she may be in the unhappy position of having to vote against a measure that bears her name.

In the meantime, she is marshaling all the forces she can to keep that from happening.

Program Staged By Elkton Group

The program opened with a piano solo by Marilyn Lee Baker, followed by group singing. Several skits were presented by Eleanor Milhoan, Edith Milhaon, Ruth E. Baker, Dorothy McCammon, Bee Moore, Dianne Cusick, Carolyn Cusick, Marilyn Y. Baker, Janice Moore, Gwen Sturgeon, Dianne Baker, Dianne Evans and Darlene Arter. Eight members of the Junior MYF presented a song.

Flower awards were given to: Mrs. Worthy Law of Lisbon, oldest mother present; Mrs. Harold Dixon, youngest grandmother; Mrs. Dean Ward, mother with the smallest waistline; Mrs. David Evans, for the longest hair, and Mrs. Delbert Brown, tallest mother.

Mrs. William L. Brown of Lisbon gave the opening prayer. Glora Jean Baker was mistress of ceremonies.

Panhandle Grocers To Meet In Wheeling

Scott Detrick of Louisville, Ky., president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, will address Northern Panhandle grocers at a banquet Wednesday at 7:15 in the Wheeling Elks Club.

The event is for members of the Wheeling Area Retail Grocers Association, which covers the six Northern Panhandle Counties of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler.

The WARGO Board of Directors includes Clarence V. Broomhall of Newell and Allan Recht and Max Kuntz of Weirton. Harold V. Ford of Wheeling is president.

U.S. Opens New 'Crisis' Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new cold war operation center has been set up by the State Department to keep round-the-clock watch on world crises.

Its function is to see that recommendations for dealing with crises are made promptly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and through him to President Kennedy and to make certain that the decisions reached by Kennedy and Rusk are promptly implemented.

Formation of the center and its responsibilities were disclosed Saturday by the State Department. The new agency is headed by Theodore C. Achilles, 55, a veteran foreign service officer who had a major role in drafting the North Atlantic Treaty.

Disclosure of the center's existence followed State Department announcement that Stephen E. Smith, 33, a brother-in-law of President Kennedy, had been appointed special assistant to Achilles.

Law Detailed For Disabled

The fact a person is collecting Social Security disability benefits does not mean he never can work again, Glenn McCauley, manager of the district Social Security office in Youngstown, explained today.

Just the opposite is true, as the Social Security Administration encourages a person to help himself by returning to work if he can perform a job despite his condition, if he learns new skills or if his condition improves, McCauley said.

The 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act provide that persons receiving disability payments who go to work despite severe handicaps can continue to be paid their benefits during 12 months — whether they go to work under a directed vocational rehabilitation plan or on their own, he said.

Perhaps the return to work will be permanent. If so, the disability checks will not be stopped until the person has worked during 12 months, McCauley said.

A decision whether the individual has shown that he has regained his ability to work will not be made until after 9 months. If at that time, it is found that he is able to engage in "substantial" work and therefore is no longer disabled, the checks still will be paid for three months longer, making in all 12 months of trial work and adjustment.

If he recovers from his disability without testing his ability to work, his payments will be continued for an adjustment period of three months after recovery.

The recent change in the law allows a disabled person to continue to receive benefit checks while he is trying to work. The law intends to encourage self rehabilitation.

Chester Men Discuss Landscaping Project

The landscaping committee reported progress on its project of beautifying the church grounds when the Catholic Men's Club of the Chester Sacred Heart Catholic Church met Sunday night.

About 50 attended the meeting in the School Hall. Tony Roman, chairman, presented the landscaping committee's report.

Tom Wehner, retreat chairman, also gave a report. Business was conducted by Charles Kology, president.

The session was opened and closed with prayers by Fr. Eugene Jacobs, pastor. The social committee included Charles Kology, Felix Kology and Edward Laneve.

The next meeting will be June 11, according to George LaNeve, publicity chairman.

Curb Painting Work Set By Chester Club

The Cherioteers Car Club will begin work Saturday, weather permitting, on painting curbs and crosswalks in Chester.

Chester Council gave the group permission to do the painting with the city to furnish materials. The club planned to begin work last Saturday but postponed it because of rain.

Plans for a public dance in the near future were discussed by the club at its meeting Saturday night in its room on Carolina Ave.

The Board of Directors will meet tonight at 6 at the home of William Mackall Jr. of Park Pl. William Harper Jr., president, presided.

Love Helps Baby Learn To Talk

The tiny infant may coo while lying all alone but he coos more when responding to your tender voice and smiles. Besides, he then may move his hands and legs. If, at four or six months of age, the baby is lying propped up where he can see you while you are busy, he may keep watching for you to look at him and speak to him. And when you do, he may respond with pleasure all over. It's his way of communicating. Up until he begins to talk with words, begins formal speech, he responds most strongly and most often when he seems to feel good toward you, to feel increasingly happy in your presence.

Dr. Garry Meyers

YOU KNOW very well that the more relaxed and tender you feel and act toward the baby, whether two months or two years old, the happier he feels toward you and the more surely he responds with his eyes, face, head, hands, feet and speech organs—his whole self — the more he tries to communicate with you. In other words, the more you and your baby enjoy each other, the faster his speech will develop, as a rule.

Obviously, the more he has practiced communicating without words the more ready he grows to talk to you. When he begins to imitate, see how his happy feelings toward you encourage him to watch your mouth and listen to the sounds and words you say.

Once the baby has spoken a few words, you may be over-eager for him to say more words. You may urge him so much to talk as to annoy him. You may even show excessive anger in your face and by your voice when he doesn't say words you feel sure he can say.

You might even suppose you can force him to talk. Then you will almost surely slow up his speech.

IF YOU HAVE a child over one or two years old who has acquired good ways of pantomiming what he wants to say, you might be able to force him to speak a few words by acting as if you didn't understand him.

But because you had always responded to his gestures and grunts so well before, your sudden refusal to do so may only anger him and render him still less ready to speak.

It's better if you do kindly and lovingly for him what he asks for by his pantomimes and if, as you do so, you speak clearly and tenderly the words for him, hoping he might, bye and bye, emulate your speech.

And it's not this time that's most important; it's getting him ready for the next time and the next; it's providing him with a climate of love and security, a climate of happy communication.

My bulletins, "The Young Child's Speech" and "Enjoying Our Children," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

War Orphan Aid Detailed

The war orphans education is a program of financial aid for the education of children of deceased veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, or of an induction period beginning on or after Sept. 16, 1940, who died in service or from service-connected conditions after their discharge.

A. G. Bille, contact representative in charge of the Veterans Administration office at Steubenville, added that service-connected conditions during the induction periods are limited to disabilities resulting directly from the performance of active service, from armed conflict or from injuries or disease received in extrahazardous service.

In any event, the discharge must have been under conditions other than dishonorable.

Each eligible young person is provided help by a professional counselor in deciding upon a suitable educational or vocational goal. The eligible young person may receive up to 36 months of education. This program of education must be pointed toward a definite educational or vocational goal.

The Veterans Administration will pay $110 for every month spent in school if full-time. Rates for part-time study are lower.

Generally, a young man or woman must be between 18 and 23 to attend school under the War Orphans program. In certain instances, it is possible to begin school before age 18 and to continue after age 23.

Further information, or answers to specific questions may be obtained from the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

80 Attend First Class In Area's Fire School

Eighty attended the first session of the annual fire school held Sunday at Wellsville by the Tri-State Firemen's Association.

The second class will be next Sunday from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the training grounds at the poundage area at 21st St. and Danbury Ave.

Assistant Chief Robert Lloyd of Wellsville is in charge, assisted by Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville and Assistant Chief Ray Neimi and Capt. Frank Potts of Warren.

Those attending represented eight area departments. Box lunches were served by the auxiliary of the Glenmoor volunteer department. Yesterday's session consisted primarily of oral instruction, plus drills on minor equipment.

Iran Economy Faces 'Trouble', Aide States

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier-designate Ali Amini says complete economic breakdown threatens Iran because resources have been wasted and government officials have been greedy.

The government's financial structures "are in their last breath," Dr. Amini said in a nationwide broadcast Sunday. He asked Iranians to help revive the economy by increasing production and by cutting needless expenditures.

Physician To Air Medical Aspects Of Civil War Era

Dr. Fraser Jackson, city physician, will discuss medical services and techniques of the Civil War era at a meeting of the Tri-State Civil War Roundtable Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Carnegie Library.

Some 300,000 Union soldiers died in the war, but only one-third of the deaths resulted from battles; the remaining two thirds stemmed from disease. There were 400,000 cases of wounds and injuries, and almost 6 million cases of sickness.

Although there was a degree of inefficiency in caring for wounded early in the war, along with a lack of understanding of proper operating procedures as they are now known — especially in the prevention of infection — there were great medical strides, and mortality rates were lower than in previous wars.

Some ten physicians from Columbiana County served in the war, including Dr. Jason Arter of Salineville — and his wife, a nurse —and Dr. N. K. McKenzie of Wellsville.

Anyone interested in this facet of the war is invited to attend, Judge Louis Tobin, president, said.

YOU KNOW very well that the more relaxed and tender you feel and act toward the baby, whether two months or two years old, the happier he feels toward you and the more surely he responds with his eyes, face, head, hands, feet and speech organs—his whole self — the more he tries to communicate with you. In other words, the more you and your baby enjoy each other, the faster his speech will develop, as a rule.

Obviously, the more he has practiced communicating without words the more ready he grows to talk to you. When he begins to imitate, see how his happy feelings toward you encourage him to watch your mouth and listen to the sounds and words you say.

Once the baby has spoken a few words, you may be over-eager for him to say more words. You may urge him so much to talk as to annoy him. You may even show excessive anger in your face and by your voice when he doesn't say words you feel sure he can say.

You might even suppose you can force him to talk. Then you will almost surely slow up his speech.

IF YOU HAVE a child over one or two years old who has acquired good ways of pantomiming what he wants to say, you might be able to force him to speak a few words by acting as if you didn't understand him.

But because you had always responded to his gestures and grunts so well before, your sudden refusal to do so may only anger him and render him still less ready to speak.

It's better if you do kindly and lovingly for him what he asks for by his pantomimes and if, as you do so, you speak clearly and tenderly the words for him, hoping he might, bye and bye, emulate your speech.

And it's not this time that's most important; it's getting him ready for the next time and the next; it's providing him with a climate of love and security, a climate of happy communication.

My bulletins, "The Young Child's Speech" and "Enjoying Our Children," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Physician To Air Medical Aspects Of Civil War Era

Dr. Fraser Jackson, city physician, will discuss medical services and techniques of the Civil War era at a meeting of the Tri-State Civil War Roundtable Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Carnegie Library.

Some 300,000 Union soldiers died in the war, but only one-third of the deaths resulted from battles; the remaining two thirds stemmed from disease. There were 400,000 cases of wounds and injuries, and almost 6 million cases of sickness.

Although there was a degree of inefficiency in caring for wounded early in the war, along with a lack of understanding of proper operating procedures as they are now known — especially in the prevention of infection — there were great medical strides, and mortality rates were lower than in previous wars.

Some ten physicians from Columbiana County served in the war, including Dr. Jason Arter of Salineville — and his wife, a nurse —and Dr. N. K. McKenzie of Wellsville.

Anyone interested in this facet of the war is invited to attend, Judge Louis Tobin, president, said.

Permit Approved

EAST PALESTINE — The Ohio Department of Liquor Control in Columbus has approved the application of Frank Howard, 740 E. Taggart St., for a new D-5 permit, permitting sale of beer, wine or spirituous liquor by-the-glass until 2:30 a.m. in the night club.

War Orphan Aid Detailed

The war orphans education is a program of financial aid for the education of children of deceased veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, or of an induction period beginning on or after Sept. 16, 1940, who died in service or from service - connected conditions after their discharge.

A. G. Bille, contact representative in charge of the Veterans Administration office at Steubenville, added that service - connected conditions during the induction periods are limited to disabilities resulting directly from the performance of active service, from armed conflict or from injuries or disease received in extrahazardous service.

In any event, the discharge must have been under conditions other than dishonorable.

Each eligible young person is provided help by a professional counselor in deciding upon a suitable educational or vocational goal. The eligible young person may receive up to 36 months of education. This program of education must be pointed toward a definite educational or vocational goal.

The Veterans Administration will pay $110 for every month spent in school if full - time. Rates for part-time study are lower.

Generally, a young man or woman must be between 18 and 23 to attend school under the War Orphans program. In certain instances, it is possible to begin school before age 18 and to continue after age 23.

Further information, or answers to specific questions may be obtained from the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

LISBON — Patrick Chamberlain of W. Washington St. was fined $10 and costs Saturday by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of reckless operation. Cited by village police, he pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty by the mayor.

Eighty attended the first session of the annual fire school held Sunday at Wellsville by the Tri-State Firemen's Association.

The second class will be next Sunday from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the training grounds at the poundage area at 21st St. and Danbury Ave.

Assistant Chief Robert Lloyd of Wellsville is in charge, assisted by Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville and Assistant Chief Ray Neimi and Capt. Frank Potts of Warren.

Those attending represented eight area departments. Box lunches were served by the auxiliary of the Glenmoor volunteer department. Yesterday's session consisted primarily of oral instruction, plus drills on minor equipment.

Iran Economy Faces 'Trouble', Aide States

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier-designate Ali Amini says complete economic breakdown threatens Iran because resources have been wasted and government officials have been greedy.

The government's financial structures "are in their last breath," Dr. Amini said in a nationwide broadcast Sunday. He asked Iranians to help revive the economy by increasing production and by cutting needless expenditures.

$330,000,000. Search For Rare Coins

HOLES IN YOUR COVERAGE?...SEE YOUR PRUDENTIAL AGENT

Far more serious than the holes in this young fella's coverage, are the holes in many a breadwinner's insurance coverage. For instance—who would pay the bills if your income stops because of sickness or injury?

Prudential helps safeguard against this kind of incomplete coverage. A Prudential Income Protection Plan can help take the place of a missing pay check. A Prudential Hospital & Surgical Expense Plan will help pay hospital and surgical costs. And Prudential's modern Major-Medical Expense Plan helps pay those huge bills that result from prolonged hospital care—bills that hardly anyone can afford.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Barnes Claimed At 82

Mrs. Cora Allison Barnes, 812 St. Clair Ave., wife of William H. Barnes, died suddenly Sunday at 7 p. m. at City Hospital, where she had been admitted shortly before. She was 82.

Mrs. Barnes was born in Clarkson and had resided here virtually all her life.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Maj. William Hathorn of the Salvation Army. Burial will be in the Clarkson Cemetery.

Edwin Rogers

Edwin West Rogers of Chester St., New Cumberland, a retired horticulturist with the Davis Orchard at Letart, W. Va., died Saturday afternoon at the Fox Rest Home in Chester after a long illness. He was 93.

He was born March 30, 1868, in Putnam County, W. Va., son of the late J. C. Rogers and Emily Koontz Rogers. He had lived in New Cumberland since October 1937, going there from Letart, where he was employed 17 years. He was a member of the Lone Oaks Methodist Church, near Point Pleasant. He was a member of the Mason (W.Va.) Masonic lodge.

He leaves four sons, Lloyd C. Rogers and Jary R. Rogers, both of Wellsville, Edward O. Rogers of New Cumberland and Thomas F. Rogers of Clinton, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Ora A. Moncrief of New Cumberland, Mrs. Olive N. Haskins of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Lila R. Taylor of Industry, and Mrs. Audrey M. Lievint of Clinton; four sisters, Mrs. Ida Byers of Springfield, Mrs. Lula Stover of Oscoda, Mich., Mrs. Emma Turner of Detroit, and Mrs. Grace Hope of Henderson, W. Va.; two brothers, Fred Rogers of Plant City, Fla., and Gilbert Rogers of Henderson, 37 grandchildren and 68 great-grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Ida Minnie Rogers, died May 13, 1950.

Services were held this morning at the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland. The body was removed to the Crow Funeral Home in Point Pleasant, where services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the Lone Oaks Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Crow Funeral Home after 5 p. m. today.

Vegetables Add Colorful Touch To Fish

Fish cookery need not be complicated, but it does need to be done with a bit of care.

Swordfish on a sea food restaurant menu is always considered extra special and is given a few extra special touches. For the home menu, the vegetables served with fish can add color and flavor contrast.

2 tablespoons soft fat
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
2 medium tomatoes
Butter
Cracker meal or dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Place swordfish on broiling rack. Blend together fat and salt. Gradually stir in the lemon juice. Brush half of mixture over surface of fish, using a pastry brush. Arrange fish on broiling rack.

Halve the tomatoes and place on rack with fish. Dot tomatoes with butter and sprinkle lightly with cracker meal or bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Place in pre-heated broiling compartment and broil about 4 inches from moderate heat until fish is lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Turn fish. Brush on second side with remaining mixture. Continue broiling until fish flakes easily and turns opaque white, about 5 minutes longer.

Remove to hot serving platter and garnish with broiled tomato halves and lemon wedges. Serve with Green Peas and Mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Green Peas & Mushrooms

In a saucepan, combine contents of a 3 oz. can sliced broiled mushrooms (including broth), 1 tablespoon butter and a 12 oz. package quick-frozen green peas, partially thawed. Cover and bring to a boil. Cook 5 minutes. Season to taste. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Homer Hoffman

Homer J. Hoffman, a former steelworker, died Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Fox Nursing Home in Chester following a long illness. He was 76.

He was born in Celina, son of Samuel Hoffman and Amanda Crowmer Hoffman. He lived here 32 years. He was employed last at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. His last residence was on Holliday St.

He is survived by four sons, Homer D. Hoffman of Glenmoor, Samuel A. Hoffman of Townsend, Mass., Charles E. Hoffman of Newport, R.I., and Ralph A. Hoffman of LaCroft; three daughters, Mrs. Daisy Mae Celio and Mrs. Richard Delaney, both of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Gertrude Barrett of Rockville, Conn.; a brother, William Hoffman of Celina; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Springer of Dayton, 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Dr. A. K. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Mrs. James Gibson

Mrs. Estella Gibson, 336½ W. 6th St., widow of James D. Gibson, died this morning at 3:55 at City Hospital after an illness of several weeks. She was 83.

She was born in Salineville, daughter of the late Peter Daugherty and Ellen Earley Daugherty. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

She is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Mary Hodgson, with whom she resided, and Mrs. Mary McHenry of Chester and several nephews.

Services will be held Wednesday morning at 9:30 at the church. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Robert Short

Robert S. Short of Clinton R. D. 1, a retired painter, died Saturday at 8:40 a. m. at his home following an illness of several months. He was 75.

He was born in Pittsburgh Aug. 25, 1885.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Short, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Moore of Aliquippa R. D. 2 and Miss Mary Short of Ambridge; two sons, Elmer Short of Hookstown R. D. 1 and James A. Short of Pittsburgh; a brother, Arthur W. Short of Avalon; a sister, Mrs. Grace Hoak of Charleroi, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown by the Rev. Howard Eschbaugh, pastor of the Mt. Olivet United Presbyterian Church, near Aliquippa. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Mrs. Thompson

Mrs. Thelma Melvina Thompson, 418½ E. 4th St., a potter, died suddenly at her home this morning at 9. She was 51.

She was born in East Liverpool, daughter of the late William Cline and Roseanna Lee Cline. She was employed as a decorator at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Chester Beatty and Mrs. John McKeever, both of East Liverpool.

36 Jap Students Tour Hawaii, California

They will observe American teaching methods in California schools.

Cosma Heads New MD Unit

LISBON — Twenty-two representatives of organizations in Columbiana County met Sunday night in Village Hall and formed a Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy Association Chapter.

John Cosma of Columbiana was elected president; Mrs. Robert Talbott of Salem, first vice-president; Miss Jane Royle of Salem, second vice-president; Mrs. Marie Cosma of Columbiana, secretary, and Mrs. Eleanor Beeson of Salem, treasurer.

Members of the executive committee are Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool; Mrs. Glen Hoobler, Mrs. Beeson, Cosma, Mrs. Agnes Ford, Mr. and Mrs. William McDevitt, Katherine McKee, Grace Reisinger, Maxine Adam, Eugene Morris and Mildred Ieropoli of Lisbon.

Russell F. Catanese of Cleveland talked on chapter organization and told how the funds from MD marches are used. He said Columbiana County raised $7,200 last year and there are five MD children in the county.

Michael Yarosh of Youngstown, who is president of the Mahoning County chapter, showed a film, "The Lower of Hope." He also read the rules and regulations of the MD chapters.

Upon approval of the chapter by the National Foundation, the meetings will be held on the third Monday night of each month at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Lisbon.

Kindergarten's Diplomas Slated At Midland Rites

First St. School will hold its exercises Tuesday and Wednesdays evenings for its two classes, totaling 57, and 7th St. School rites will be Thursday and Friday evenings for its two classes, totaling 62.

Supt. Jewell will be a speaker and James Morrison, president of the Board of Education, will present diplomas. Miss Margaret Hogan is elementary supervisor.

Exercises will be held at the respective schools. Miss Cora Wickline is kindergarten teacher at 1st St. and Mrs. Evelyn Mahoney at 7th St.

The program will include finger plays, songs, counting, nursery rhymes and the performance of the rhythm band. Both teachers are in charge of the program.

'Well, Snakes Alive,' Exclaims Student

BOSTON (AP) — "Snakes alive!" exclaimed Suffolk University student Warren J. Dearden Jr., when he walked into the kitchen of his apartment on Boston's Beacon Hill. Curled up on the stove was a three-foot boa constrictor.

Without stopping long enough to be sure what kind of snake it was, he dashed out to seek the aid of a traffic policeman. Agents for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals bagged the critter and identified it. Investigation showed a previous tenant, with unusual tastes, couldn't find his pet when he moved three months earlier.

The SPCA people said the snake apparently had gone into hibernation in a partition and came out when the weather warmed up. The society sent the snake to a zoo.

Turnpike Emergency Handled By Trooper

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — State Trooper M. E. Tinsley, answering a radio call, found a young man pacing up and down beside the Richmond-Petersburg turnpike.

His car was out of gas and a baby had just been born in the car. Tinsley, having just aided a gasless motorist, put three remaining quarts into the car and the young man drove on to a Richmond hospital.

Tax Collector Rushes Honeymoon Money

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Even the tax man has a heart and a bride-to-be here knew how to find it.

"Rush! Rush! Rush! This is honeymoon money," she said in claiming a $33 refund.

C. W. Glotzbach, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, responded favorably.

Driver Jailed After Mishap

A Wellsville motorist was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol following an accident on the "super road" near Dobb's Motel in Wellsville Saturday at 5:20 p. m.

Police said Paul Irwin, 339 Lisbon St., was headed into Wellsville when he lost control of his car and went off the right side of the highway. The car traveled 81 feet, struck a utility pole, and then continued 60 feet before coming to a halt in a ditch.

Irwin escaped injury. He pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunk driving at a hearing this morning before Mayor William J. Shoub.

Police also investigated two other accidents Saturday afternoon, both shortly after 4 p. m.

A car driven by Michael Rubino, 1021 Center St., Wellsville, slammed into the curb at Commerce and 9th Sts., police said. Rubino told officers the steering wheel slpiped from his hands as he was turning from Commerce onto 9th.

Cars driven by Dane Dysert, 969 Main St., and Bob Bowers of the Y. & O. Rd., Glenmoor, collided at Riverside Ave. and Virgin Alley. No one was injured.

Ohioan Chalks Theft Up To Experience

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The philosopher side of Raymond Stiltner's nature got the upper hand when he reported to police that someone had taken two $100 bills from him.

Police questioned several men who denied the theft and finally police informed Stiltner he could file charges if he found out the identity of the thief.

Stiltner replied that he didn't want to file charges, adding: "I'll just chalk it up to experience."

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Barnes Claimed At 82

Mrs. Cora Allison Barnes, 812 St. Clair Ave., wife of William H. Barnes, died suddenly Sunday at 7 p. m. at City Hospital, where she had been admitted shortly before. She was 82.

Mrs. Barnes was born in Clarkson and had resided here virtually all her life.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Maj. William Hathorn of the Salvation Army. Burial will be in the Clarkson Cemetery.

Edwin Rogers

Edwin West Rogers of Chester St., New Cumberland, a retired horticulturist with the Davis Orchard at Letart, W. Va., died Saturday afternoon at the Fox Rest Home in Chester after a long illness. He was 93.

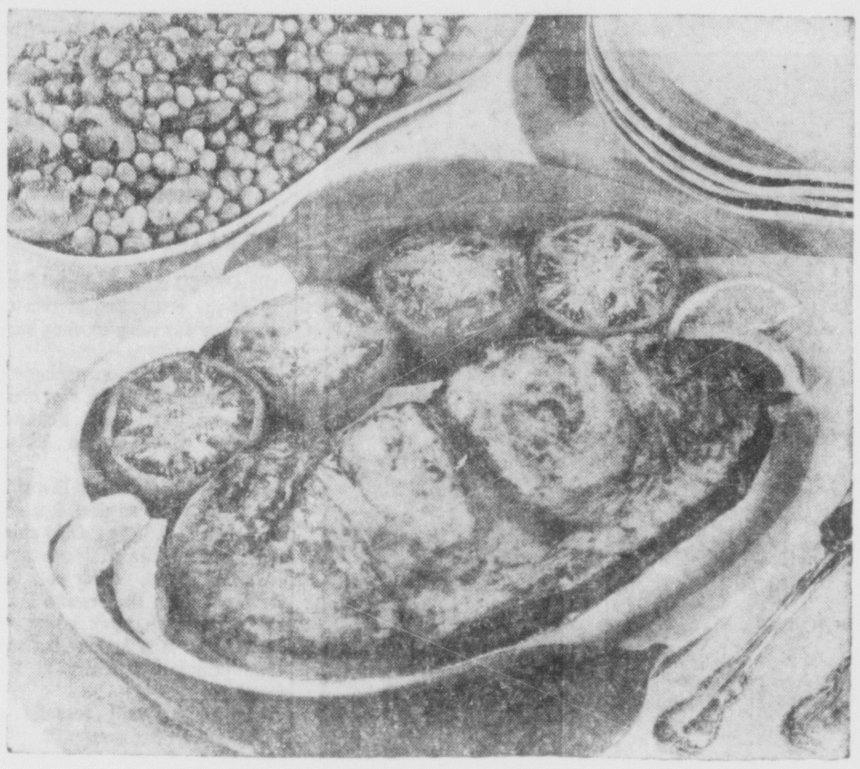
He was born March 30, 1868, in Putnam County, W. Va., son of the late J. C. Rogers and Emily Koontz Rogers. He had lived in New Cumberland since October 1937, going there from Letart, where he was employed 17 years. He was a member of the Lone Oaks Methodist Church, near Point Pleasant. He was a member of the Mason (W.Va.) Masonic lodge.

He leaves four sons, Lloyd C. Rogers and Jary R. Rogers, both of Wellsville, Edward O. Rogers of New Cumberland and Thomas F. Rogers of Clinton, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Ora A. Moncrief of New Cumberland, Mrs. Olive N. Haskins of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Lila R. Taylor of Industry, and Mrs. Audrey M. Lievint of Clinton; four sisters, Mrs. Ida Byers of Springfield, Mrs. Lula Stover of Oscoda, Mich., Mrs. Emma Turner of Detroit, and Mrs. Grace Hope of Henderson, W. Va.; two brothers, Fred Rogers of Plant City, Fla., and Gilbert Rogers of Henderson, 37 grandchildren and 68 great-grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Ida Minnie Rogers, died May 13, 1950.

Services were held this morning at the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland. The body was removed to the Crow Funeral Home in Point Pleasant, where services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the Lone Oaks Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Crow Funeral Home after 5 p. m. today.

Vegetables Add Colorful Touch To Fish



Fish cookery need not be complicated, but it does need to be done with a bit of care.

Swordfish on a sea food restaurant menu is always considered extra special and is given a few extra special touches. For the home menu, the vegetables served with fish can add color and flavor contrast.

2 tablespoons soft fat
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
2 medium tomatoes
Butter
Cracker meal or dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Place swordfish on broiling rack. Blend together fat and salt. Gradually stir in the lemon juice. Brush half of mixture over surface of fish, using a pastry brush. Arrange fish on broiling rack.

Halve the tomatoes and place on rack with fish. Dot tomatoes with butter and sprinkle lightly with cracker meal or bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Place in pre-heated broiling compartment and broil about 4 inches from moderate heat until fish is lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Turn fish. Brush on second side with remaining mixture. Continue broiling until fish flakes easily and turns opaque white, about 5 minutes longer.

Remove to hot serving platter and garnish with broiled tomato halves and lemon wedges. Serve with Green Peas and Mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Green Peas & Mushrooms

In a saucepan, combine contents of a 3 oz. can sliced broiled mushrooms (including broth), 1 tablespoon butter and a 12 oz. package quick-frozen green peas, partially thawed. Cover and bring to a boil. Cook 5 minutes. Season to taste. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Homer Hoffman

Homer J. Hoffman, a former steelworker, died Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Fox Nursing Home in Chester following a long illness. He was 76.

He was born in Celina, son of Samuel Hoffman and Amanda Crowmer Hoffman. He lived here 32 years. He was employed last at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. His last residence was on Holliday St.

He is survived by four sons, Homer D. Hoffman of Glenmoor, Samuel A. Hoffman of Townsend, Mass., Charles E. Hoffman of Newport, R.I., and Ralph A. Hoffman of LaCroft; three daughters, Mrs. Daisy Mae Celio and Mrs. Richard Delaney, both of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Gertrude Barrett of Rockville, Conn.; a brother, William Hoffman of Celina; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Springer of Dayton, 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Dr. A. K. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Mrs. James Gibson

Mrs. Estella Gibson, 336½ W. 6th St., widow of James D. Gibson, died this morning at 3:55 at City Hospital after an illness of several weeks. She was 83.

She was born in Salineville, daughter of the late Peter Daugherty and Ellen Earley Daugherty. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

She is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Mary Hodgson, with whom she resided, and Mrs. Mary McHenry of Chester and several nephews.

Services will be held Wednesday morning at 9:30 at the church. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Robert Short

Robert S. Short of Clinton R. D. 1, a retired painter, died Saturday at 8:40 a. m. at his home following an illness of several months. He was 75.

He was born in Pittsburgh Aug. 25, 1885.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Short, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Moore of Aliquippa R. D. 2 and Miss Mary Short of Ambridge; two sons, Elmer Short of Hookstown R. D. 1 and James A. Short of Pittsburgh; a brother, Arthur W. Short of Avalon; a sister, Mrs. Grace Hoak of Charleroi, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown by the Rev. Howard Eschbaugh, pastor of the Mt. Olivet United Presbyterian Church, near Aliquippa. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Mrs. Thompson

Mrs. Thelma Melvina Thompson, 418½ E. 4th St., a potter, died suddenly at her home this morning at 9. She was 51.

She was born in East Liverpool, daughter of the late William Cline and Roseanna Lee Cline. She was employed as a decorator at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Chester Beatty and Mrs. John McKeever, both of East Liverpool.

36 Jap Students Tour Hawaii, California

The group is on a tour of Hawaii and California during spring vacation.

They will observe American teaching methods in California schools.

Cosma Heads New MD Unit

LISBON — Twenty-two representatives of organizations in Columbiana County met Sunday night in Village Hall and formed a Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy Association Chapter.

John Cosma of Columbiana was elected president; Mrs. Robert Talbott of Salem, first vice-president; Miss Jane Royle of Salem, second vice-president; Mrs. Marie Cosma of Columbiana, secretary, and Mrs. Eleanor Beeson of Salem, treasurer.

Members of the executive committee are Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool; Mrs. Glen Hoobler, Mrs. Beeson, Cosma, Mrs. Agnes Ford, Mr. and Mrs. William McDevitt, Katherine McKee, Grace Reisinger, Maxine Adam, Eugene Morris and Mildred Ieropoli of Lisbon.

Russell F. Catanese of Cleveland talked on chapter organization and told how the funds from MD marches are used. He said Columbiana County raised $7,200 last year and there are five MD children in the county.

Michael Yarosh of Youngstown, who is president of the Mahoning County chapter, showed a film, "The Lower of Hope." He also read the rules and regulations of the MD chapters.

Upon approval of the chapter by the National Foundation, the meetings will be held on the third Monday night of each month at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Lisbon.

Kindergarten's Diplomas Slated At Midland Rites

First St. School will hold its exercises Tuesday and Wednesdays evenings for its two classes, totaling 57, and 7th St. School rites will be Thursday and Friday evenings for its two classes, totaling 62.

Supt. Jewell will be a speaker and James Morrison, president of the Board of Education, will present diplomas. Miss Margaret Hogan is elementary supervisor.

Exercises will be held at the respective schools. Miss Cora Wickline is kindergarten teacher at 1st St. and Mrs. Evelyn Mahoney at 7th St.

The program will include finger plays, songs, counting, nursery rhymes and the performance of the rhythm band. Both teachers are in charge of the program.

'Well, Snakes Alive,' Exclaims Student

BOSTON (AP) — "Snakes alive!" exclaimed Suffolk University student Warren J. Dearden Jr., when he walked into the kitchen of his apartment on Boston's Beacon Hill. Curled up on the stove was a three-foot boa constrictor.

Without stopping long enough to be sure what kind of snake it was, he dashed out to seek the aid of a traffic policeman. Agents for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals bagged the critter and identified it. Investigation showed a previous tenant, with unusual tastes, couldn't find his pet when he moved three months earlier.

The SPCA people said the snake apparently had gone into hibernation in a partition and came out when the weather warmed up. The society sent the snake to a zoo.

Turnpike Emergency Handled By Trooper

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — State Trooper M. E. Tinsley, answering a radio call, found a young man pacing up and down beside the Richmond-Petersburg turnpike.

His car was out of gas and a baby had just been born in the car. Tinsley, having just aided a gasless motorist, put three remaining quarts into the car and the young man drove on to a Richmond hospital.

Tax Collector Rushes Honeymoon Money

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Even the tax man has a heart and a bride-to-be here knew how to find it.

"Rush! Rush! Rush! This is honeymoon money," she said in claiming a $33 refund.

C. W. Glotzbach, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, responded favorably.

Driver Jailed After Mishap

A Wellsville motorist was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol following an accident on the "super road" near Dobb's Motel in Wellsville Saturday at 5:20 p. m.

Police said Paul Irwin, 339 Lisbon St., was headed into Wellsville when he lost control of his car and went off the right side of the highway. The car traveled 81 feet, struck a utility pole, and then continued 60 feet before coming to a halt in a ditch.

Irwin escaped injury. He pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunk driving at a hearing this morning before Mayor William J. Shoub.

Police also investigated two other accidents Saturday afternoon, both shortly after 4 p. m.

A car driven by Michael Rubino, 1021 Center St., Wellsville, slammed into the curb at Commerce and 9th Sts., police said. Rubino told officers the steering wheel slpiped from his hands as he was turning from Commerce onto 9th.

Cars driven by Dane Dysert, 969 Main St., and Bob Bowers of the Y. & O. Rd., Glenmoor, collided at Riverside Ave. and Virgin Alley. No one was injured.

Ohioan Chalks Theft Up To Experience

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The philosopher side of Raymond Stiltner's nature got the upper hand when he reported to police that someone had taken two $100 bills from him.

Police questioned several men who denied the theft and finally police informed Stiltner he could file charges if he found out the identity of the thief.

100 Rescued Off Ohio Boat

BUCKEYE LAKE, Ohio (AP)—An excursion boat sank in Buckeye Lake Saturday, but the more than 100 persons aboard, mostly Denison University students and their dates, were rescued by other pleasure craft or swam to shore.

"We heard a big clunk when we struck something," was the way Frank Dahl, 19, a Newton, Mass., freshman, described the incident. The "something" apparently was a log, the same thing that sank the double-decked sternwheeler in 1955 when relatively few were aboard.

"The crew didn't tell us anything," Dahl related. "None of us even knew there was a hole in the bottom until we started sinking. We were up on top and the boat seemed to be tilting."

The $12,000 craft, the Queen of the Lake, went down in eight feet of water, 300-400 feet off the south shore. The water submerged its lower deck. The captain, Jack Carlin, 43, had ordered his passengers to the top deck just before the boat sank.

Witnesses said many of the girls, taken off first, were carried to the dozen small rescue craft, and the boys waded through shoulder-high water on the lower deck to get to the waiting boats.

At least six students, including one girl, swam to shore.

About half the students belong to Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Denison. The fraternity had hired the boat for an afternoon of cruising on the lake.

Later, members of Denison's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and their dates cancelled a moonlight excurison on the lake which had been planned for that same night.

Ironically, the students reportedly sang a song about the sinking of the Titanic shortly after they began the trip. The Titanic struck an iceberg in the North Atlantic on its maiden voyage in 1912 and went down with a loss of 1,517 lives.

Patrol Lists 8 District Deaths

Eight persons were killed in seven fatal accidents during April in District 4 of the State Highway Patrol, which includes seven northeastern counties. The Lisbon barracks is included in the district along with posts at Ashtabula, Painesville, Canfield, Ravenna and Warren.

This is a decrease from April of last year when nine fatal accidents occurred and 10 were killed.

A total of 334 accidents were investigated. Of these 99 were injury accidents and 181 persons were hurt. The patrol made a total of 1,412 arrests. This included 911 traffic arrests. Eight felony arrests and 493 misdeamenor citations.

A total of 139 special details were handled, 100 safety talks given, 852 vehicles checked and $10,250 in stolen property recovered. Registration fees collected totaled $624.74.

The posts made 199 PUCO inspections and rendered assistance in 141 cases.

Summer School Eyed In Hancock

The Hancock County Board of Education has approved plans to operate summer school classes providing enough students enroll.

Plans call for a nine-week term June 12-Aug. 11 at centers in Chester and Weirton, offering basic subjects of English, science, mathematics, social studies and typing.

Classes will meet for three hours for five days a week, conforming to all state Department of Education requirements for one unit of credit.

Principals of the various high schools will announce registration dates and the special courses to be offered to the secondary pupils this week.

The board planned to hold summer school last year but dropped the program because of a lack of interest.

Georgetown Bible Study Club Convenes

Mrs. Francis Soisson of Georgetown was hostess for a meeting of the Esther Bible Study Club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Philip Hewitt led devotions and the Book of Kings was studied. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Raymond Nunn will be the June hostess.

Mrs. Edwin Choens of Beaver Falls is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mackall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowser and family were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bowser of Adrian, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Buzzard of Mahoning.

Bound For Saudi Arabia

'Coast-To-Coast' On His Shoes

This lanky Oregeonian was plodding steadily eastward today after an overnight stop Saturday in East Liverpool on a cross - country pedestrian trip he hopes will take him eventually to the oil fields of Saudi Arabia.

He is heading for that fabled Persian Gulf country with the expectations of saving a "stake" to start an egg farm in his native Oregon. He said it is about time he settles down — he is 45.

Harry L. Johnson of Salem, Ore., left the West Coast Jan. 1 and is wearing out his third pair of shoes in trudging over the national highway system en route to New York City.

He spent the night in the YMCA and went on to Pittsburgh, expecting to leave there today.

He insists on walking — has turned down numerous invitations to ride — and says he expects to step up his pace starting out of Pittsburgh, hoping to cover the remaining 375 miles to New York by May 20.

The trip has had its dark moments. He said he "went broke" several times, but now has enough to pay for nightly lodgings and daily meals through the generosity of a Wyoming family he met near Cheyenne.

They have loaned him over $400 so far, desiring to help him achieve the goal of operating his own farm some day.

He spent four years in Saudi Arabia, returning in 1953, and speaks the language fluently. So he'll be no stranger in that poverty-stricken land dotted by well derricks and supplying much of Europe's oil — and millions for its shiekdom rulers.

He started with $62, then borrowed $100 from relatives. Work in the Arabian oil fields pays good and he expects to make enough in a year to pay back the loans and buy a few acres and hen houses for a chicken farm — dream of many a man.

He carries his belongings in an Army-type bag and it contains two bottles of Pacific Ocean water filled at Florence, Ore., where he had been residing. Florence's Mayor Davidson filled a bottle to be presented to Mayor Wagner of New York and Johnson filled the other to be presented to King Saud, ruler of that Persian nation wooed by both the West and communists in the cold war.

More recently Johnson worked as a supervisor of a boys' training school in Woodlawn, Ore., previously at a state hospital and about a year in security work in Southern California for a brewery firm.

He started out once for South America but gave up in Guatemala when he realized there were few roads — most travel is by air in those Latin-American countries.

He will stop off in Washington for a visa for Saudi Arabia.

73 At Dinner And Worship Of Chester Church Groups

Approximately 73 attended a dinner and worship service in Chester Friday, marking the observance of May Fellowship Day by women of the Protestant Churches of the community.

Five churches participated, including the First Christian, United Presbyterian, Westminster United Presbyterian, Methodist and Church of the Nazarene.

The observance was a project of the Chester Council of United Church Women and the program was held in the First Christian Church.

A special offering netted $43 for the state and local councils.

During the dinner, a skit on the theme of "The United Church Women's Charm Bracelet" was presented by Mrs. Paul Dippolito.

A business meeting followed with Mrs. R. M. McFarland, president, presiding. The constitution was presented by Mrs. Dippolito and approved.

Next meeting will be Nov. 3 for observance of World Community Day.

OSU Center Receives '61 Phychiatary Prize

CHICAGO (AP)—Research conducted at Columbus Psychiatric Institute and Hospital on the Ohio State University campus has been deemed worthy of the $1,500 Hofheimer Prize for 1961. The award was made Sunday at the American Psychiatric Association meeting here.

The scientists who conducted the research into effects of stress upon baby animals were Drs. Seymour Levine, a psychologist; Morton Alpert, an anatomist; and Carl Cohen, a microbiologist, together with George Lewis, a third-year medical student at Ohio State. Dr. Benjamin Pasamanick, OSU professor of psychiatry and the first Hofheimer Prize recipient in 1949, directed the studies.

Editors Pick Ohio Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press Society of Ohio, composed of editors of AP member newspapers in the state, has elected Gunner Musselman of Circleville as its president.

Musselman, who operates the Galvin Newspapers' wire service, succeeds Dan Wertman of the Cleveland Plain Dealer as APSO head.

Wright Bryan, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Marvin Arrowsmith, news editor of The AP's Washington bureau, were principal speakers at the meeting.

Arrowsmith, until recently a White House correspondent for the worldwide news cooperative, briefed the editors Sunday on problems and situations faced in covering that beat on a 'round-the-clock basis.

He called President Kennedy one of the most "accessible" chief executives, as far as newsmen were concerned. But he said just keeping up with the fast-moving President was a chore in itself.

Bryan, newly elected member of The AP's board of directors, told a Saturday night dinner meeting he did not see how competent newspaper people can be expected to put the test of national security on a news story, as President Kennedy recently suggested they do.

A way must be found, Bryan said, whereby newsmen can learn what constitutes proper security without having to suppress legitimate news of facts already known to the enemy. The answer to this, he added, might be a military or government advisor with the necessary background of problems facing newspapers.

FATHERS:
How good a business manager are you for the most precious people of all? You can find out from your Metropolitan man with a
FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every year millions of fathers have health check-ups. Yet, millions of fathers don't check up on their family's financial health.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company now offers a service which lets you do just that: The Family Security Check-Up. It is a service which can bring you new information and correct mistakes. It lets you make sure you've planned your family's future with your head as well as your heart.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

Family Security Check-Up
WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU
With the help of your Metropolitan man
1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points . . . whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

100 Rescued Off Ohio Boat

BUCKEYE LAKE, Ohio (AP)—An excursion boat sank in Buckeye Lake Saturday, but the more than 100 persons aboard, mostly Denison University students and their dates, were rescued by other pleasure craft or swam to shore.

"We heard a big clunk when we struck something," was the way Frank Dahl, 19, a Newton, Mass., freshman, described the incident. The "something" apparently was a log, the same thing that sank the double-decked sternwheeler in 1955 when relatively few were aboard.

"The crew didn't tell us anything," Dahl related. "None of us even knew there was a hole in the bottom until we started sinking. We were up on top and the boat seemed to be tilting."

The $12,000 craft, the Queen of the Lake, went down in eight feet of water, 300-400 feet off the south shore. The water submerged its lower deck. The captain, Jack Carlin, 43, had ordered his passengers to the top deck just before the boat sank.

Witnesses said many of the girls, taken off first, were carried to the dozen small rescue craft, and the boys waded through shoulder-high water on the lower deck to get to the waiting boats.

At least six students, including one girl, swam to shore.

About half the students belong to Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Denison. The fraternity had hired the boat for an afternoon of cruising on the lake.

Later, members of Denison's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and their dates cancelled a moonlight excurison on the lake which had been planned for that same night.

Ironically, the students reportedly sang a song about the sinking of the Titanic shortly after they began the trip. The Titanic struck an iceberg in the North Atlantic on its maiden voyage in 1912 and went down with a loss of 1,517 lives.

Patrol Lists 8 District Deaths

Eight persons were killed in seven fatal accidents during April in District 4 of the State Highway Patrol, which includes seven northeastern counties. The Lisbon barracks is included in the district along with posts at Ashtabula, Painesville, Canfield, Ravenna and Warren.

This is a decrease from April of last year when nine fatal accidents occurred and 10 were killed.

A total of 334 accidents were investigated. Of these 99 were injury accidents and 181 persons were hurt. The patrol made a total of 1,412 arrests. This included 911 traffic arrests. Eight felony arrests and 493 misdeameanor citations.

A total of 139 special details were handled, 100 safety talks given, 852 vehicles checked and $10,250 in stolen property recovered. Registration fees collected totaled $624.74.

The posts made 199 PUCO inspections and rendered assistance in 141 cases.

Summer School Eyed In Hancock

The Hancock County Board of Education has approved plans to operate summer school classes providing enough students enroll.

Plans call for a nine-week term June 12-Aug. 11 at centers in Chester and Weirton, offering basic subjects of English, science, mathematics, social studies and typing.

Classes will meet for three hours for five days a week, conforming to all state Department of Education requirements for one unit of credit.

Principals of the various high schools will announce registration dates and the special courses to be offered to the secondary pupils this week.

The board planned to hold summer school last year but dropped the program because of a lack of interest.

Bound For Saudi Arabia

'Coast-To-Coast' On His Shoes

This lanky Oregeonian was plodding steadily eastward today after an overnight stop Saturday in East Liverpool on a cross - country pedestrian trip he hopes will take him eventually to the oil fields of Saudi Arabia.

He is heading for that fabled Persian Gulf country with the expectations of saving a "stake" to start an egg farm in his native Oregon. He said it is about time he settles down — he is 45.

Harry L. Johnson of Salem, Ore., left the West Coast Jan. 1 and is wearing out his third pair of shoes in trudging over the national highway system en route to New York City.

He spent the night in the YMCA and went on to Pittsburgh, expecting to leave there today.

He insists on walking — has turned down numerous invitations to ride — and says he expects to step up his pace starting out of Pittsburgh, hoping to cover the remaining 375 miles to New York by May 20.

The trip has had its dark moments. He said he "went broke" several times, but now has enough to pay for nightly lodgings and daily meals through the generosity of a Wyoming family he met near Cheyenne.

They have loaned him over $400 so far, desiring to help him achieve the goal of operating his own farm some day.

He spent four years in Saudi Arabia, returning in 1953, and speaks the language fluently. So he'll be no stranger in that poverty-stricken land dotted by well derricks and supplying much of Europe's oil — and millions for its shiekdom rulers.

He started with $62, then borrowed $100 from relatives. Work in the Arabian oil fields pays good and he expects to make enough in a year to pay back the loans and buy a few acres and hen houses for a chicken farm — dream of many a man.

He carries his belongings in an Army-type bag and it contains two bottles of Pacific Ocean water filled at Florence, Ore., where he had been residing. Florence's Mayor Davidson filled a bottle to be presented to Mayor Wagner of New York and Johnson filled the other to be presented to King Saud, ruler of that Persian nation wooed by both the West and communists in the cold war.

More recently Johnson worked as a supervisor of a boys' training school in Woodlawn, Ore., previously at a state hospital and about a year in security work in Southern California for a brewery firm.

He started out once for South America but gave up in Guatemala when he realized there were few roads — most travel is by air in those Latin-American countries.

He will stop off in Washington for a visa for Saudi Arabia.

73 At Dinner And Worship Of Chester Church Groups

Approximately 73 attended a dinner and worship service in Chester Friday, marking the observance of May Fellowship Day by women of the Protestant Churches of the community.

Five churches participated, including the First Christian, United Presbyterian, Westminster United Presbyterian, Methodist and Church of the Nazarene.

The observance was a project of the Chester Council of United Church Women and the program was held in the First Christian Church.

A special offering netted $43 for the state and local councils.

During the dinner, a skit on the theme of "The United Church Women's Charm Bracelet" was presented by Mrs. Paul Dippolito.

A business meeting followed with Mrs. R. M. McFarland, president, presiding. The constitution was presented by Mrs. Dippolito and approved.

Next meeting will be Nov. 3 for observance of World Community Day.

OSU Center Receives '61 Phychiatary Prize

CHICAGO (AP)—Research conducted at Columbus Psychiatric Institute and Hospital on the Ohio State University campus has been deemed worthy of the $1,500 Hofheimer Prize for 1961. The award was made Sunday at the American Psychiatric Association meeting here.

The scientists who conducted the research into effects of stress upon baby animals were Drs. Seymour Levine, a psychologist; Morton Alpert, an anatomist; and Carl Cohen, a microbiologist, together with George Lewis, a third-year medical student at Ohio State. Dr. Benjamin Pasamanick, OSU professor of psychiatry and the first Hofheimer Prize recipient in 1949, directed the studies.

Editors Pick Ohio Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press Society of Ohio, composed of editors of AP member newspapers in the state, has elected Gunner Musselman of Circleville as its president.

Musselman, who operates the Galvin Newspapers' wire service, succeeds Dan Wertman of the Cleveland Plain Dealer as APSO head.

Wright Bryan, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Marvin Arrowsmith, news editor of The AP's Washington bureau, were principal speakers at the meeting.

Arrowsmith, until recently a White House correspondent for the worldwide news cooperative, briefed the editors Sunday on problems and situations faced in covering that beat on a 'round-the-clock basis.

He called President Kennedy one of the most "accessible" chief executives, as far as newsmen were concerned. But he said just keeping up with the fast-moving President was a chore in itself.

Bryan, newly elected member of The AP's board of directors, told a Saturday night dinner meeting he did not see how competent newspaper people can be expected to put the test of national security on a news story, as President Kennedy recently suggested they do.

A way must be found, Bryan said, whereby newsmen can learn what constitutes proper security without having to suppress legitimate news of facts already known to the enemy. The answer to this, he added, might be a military or government advisor with the necessary background of problems facing newspapers.

FATHERS:
How good a business manager are you for the most precious people of all? You can find out from your Metropolitan man with a
FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every year millions of fathers have health check-ups. Yet, millions of fathers don't check up on their family's financial health.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company now offers a service which lets you do just that: The Family Security Check-Up. It is a service which can bring you new information and correct mistakes. It lets you make sure you've planned your family's future with your head as well as your heart.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

Family Security Check-Up
WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU
With the help of your Metropolitan man
1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points . . . whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My last name is the same as one of the world's most notorious gangsters. He has been dead for a good many years but his name was synonymous with gangland.

People always ask jokingly if I am related to him. It so happens that he was a remote cousin to my father but I certainly don't feel that this is close enough to consider him my relative.

I'm going to be married in a few months and my fiance's family is pretty social and interested in background. They are giving a big party for me soon. If this question comes up (and I know it will) how shall I handle it?—M.C.

Dear Untouchable: Say, without hesitation, "Of course—we're cousins!" Everyone will think you're kidding.

Knocks The Rock

Dear Ann Landers: This is for your How Come Department:

While religious leaders, educators and so on are busy riding herd on filthy literature and pornographic art why does the radio continue to offer teen-agers rock and roll music with lyrics that are just plain lewd?

After hearing a few unbelievable lines on the radio I went out and bought the records to play at home so I could be sure my ears weren't deceiving me.

Some of those lines just stopped me dead in my tracks.

When adults promote such trash as it any wonder the kids think it's okay? I repeat, HOW COME? —A MOTHER.

Dear Mother: I applaud you and urge all parents who hear this junk to phone their complaints to the radio station, then write or wire. Also write or wire the sponsors and yell your heads off. They continue to defend their position by insisting, "We have to give people what they want." So if you don't want it, let them know.

The Tender Heart

Dear Ann: My husband's mother has sold him the idea that he is sickly and must never exert himself because it's bad for his heart.. (Her husband died of a coronary.)

She is forever clipping obituaries of young men who died of heart attacks and giving them to him. Whenever she sees him lifting something, she says, "Let your wife do it." The payoff came when the car wouldn't start and she said, "Let her push it!"

I'm worn out from the yard work, putting on and removing storm windows and screens, hauling rubbish and doing all the heavy work that a man ought to do. My husband hasn't had a sick day in 10 years and the doctor says he's in perfect health

Dear Nub: More people have worried themselves into an early grave than ever worked themselves into one. Tell your husband to ask the doctor whether exercise will hurt him.

As for you, heavy lifting and hauling is not woman's work. If he insists on sitting around waiting for his heart to konk out, hire a man to do the heavy work.

Confidentially

TO GOUGED: You didn't feel "gouged" when she quit her job to stay at home and care for her aged mother. Do you have any idea what is involved in caring for an aged person "like an infant"? She deserves to be paid. I'll bet you wouldn't have done it for any price.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Clevelander, 34, Dies In Wild Shooting Fray

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward Brown, 34, of Cleveland, died early today in Polyclinic Hospital of injuries suffered in a wild shooting fray that police said developed following an argument between him and a woman Sunday.

The fight between Brown and Miss Josephine Reid, 35, started in a bar near the Majestic Hotel on the East Side. They began calling each other names, added in some shoving and then both went home for weapons, police said.

Miss Reid packed a .32-caliber revolver and Brown a .45-caliber automatic. They returned to the sidewalk in front of the hotel and started shouting — and shooting. Six persons were hurt by flying bullets and shattering glass.

Brown was hit five times in the stomach. Miss Reid was listed in poor condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital with stomach wounds.

Cardinal Hospitalized For Treatment Of Eye

The hospital said the Roman Catholic archbishop of New York entered the hospital Saturday. There was no indication of the nature of the eye ailment but the condition was not considered serious.

Cuban 'Diversion' Hit In Speech At Oberlin

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., says it was a great mistake for the United States to let Cuban Premier Fidel Castro hypnotize us away from important problems.

"Castro is a mosquito, not a cobra," said Reuss Sunday in a talk at Oberlin College. But the Cuban leader somehow diverted this country from its major work of peacefully reconstructing Latin American, the congressman said. Reuss was one of the originators of the Peace Corps plan, which President Kennedy subsequently endorsed during his election campaign.

The Romance Of Imagination

I'm taking off soon on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Of course I'm thrilled by the prospect of once again visiting the familar scenes where our Lord walked and taught in His earthly ministry. Then, too, the storied lands of the Near East are to me so full of charm and fascination, and the people so delightful, that I am lured back once again. We shall visit Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel, Greece — and follow the Bible trail all the way.

DR. PEALE

My enthusiasm for the trip is whetted even more by a wonderful book, This Is The Holy Land, which is presented as "A Pilgrimage in Words and Pictures —Conducted by Fulton J. Sheen and Described by H.V. Morton."

The eminent bishop, whom I admire as one of our great spirtual leaders and esteem as a personal friend, is pictured visiting all the improtant places of sacred interest — and Yousuf Karsh, the photographer, is most skillful indeed. Short of going yourself to the Bible lands, I can think of no better substitute than to read a book like this.

ACTUALLY it is possible to travel the world without every buying a plane ticket or making a steamship reservation. All you need is romantic imagination — that is your passport.

I once knew a charming elderly lady who never budged from the little village where she had spent her lifetime. Even so, she was one of the most widely traveled individuals I have ever known.

The way she traveled was to send away for all travel folders, circulars and timetables available and then pore over these and imagine being in all those interesting spots. She was an avid reader of travel pages of newspapers and magazines and she built up quite a library of guides and books on faraway romantic places.

In fact, she really had more knowledge about places of unusual interest and appeal in the world than most seasoned travelers. Through her wide reading she extended her little home and village to encompass the whole fascinating world — and she never allowed the fact that she could not really visit other countires to disappoint her.

"My travel method is much cheaper and lots less trouble," she declared. "And I've had so much fun taking trips in my imagination."

DR. HARRY G. Thomas, father of Lowell Thomas, was a friend of mine. He had a vigorous and inquiring mind and was a student all his life. He actually took a course at New York University when he was past eighty.

He was a doctor of medicine for many years in the Colorado mountains. There in Cripple Creek, when Lowell was a young boy, Doctor Thomas would get him up in the middle of the night and show him the heavenly bodies in the star - studded skies over the tumbling Rocky Mountains. And they would talk about the universe.

The doctor had the same romantic and dramatic flair that later made famous his son and his grandson, Lowell Junior. His eager mind roamed over the literature of the world and he was especially versed in the Bible and its history.

Each evening he would tell Lowell the great stories of the Bible with a zest and color that made the Biblical characters living personalities in the mind's eye of the boy.

Later, when Lowell went to the Holy Land and had his historic adventures with Lawrence of Arabia and Lord Allenby, he said he felt he had known the Holy Land places all his life, so familiar had his father made the Bible to him.

It was truly the homeland of his spirit, because he had lived it in his mind many times before ever being there.

So don't rule out the powerful uses of romantic imagination to add charm and interest to your life.

Garbage Dump Complaint Aired

Hancock County commissioners met with a group of about 20 residents of Laurel Heights near Chester Friday afternoon to work out a solution to protests over the operation of a garbage dump.

The Laurel Heights group told commissioners at the meeting in New Cumberland that the dump had not been covered properly and was infested with rats.

Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and James Finley of Weirton ordered the dump closed and instructed the garbage collector in Chester to haul refuse to another site.

The officials also prohibited burning to prevent smoke in the area. The second dump is located farther from the homes of the protesting residents.

Commissioners, Assessor Tony Leon and Clerk Donald Stewart also met for an hour and a half with C. Howard Hardesty, state tax commissioner, from Charleston.

Don't flatten the meringue you are putting on a pie! Instead make swirls on the meringue with the back of a tablespoon and your topping will look really attractive.

Arrangements Aired For Cub Hobby Show

It also was announced a father-son event has been set May 27 at Camp McKinley, the Scout camp near Lisbon. Harold Taylor, cubmaster, asked every boy to participate in the city's Memorial Day parade May 30.

Plans were made for other summer events. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Chesnut of Glenmoor.

The doctor had the same romantic and dramatic flair that later made famous his son and his grandson, Lowell Junior. His eager mind roamed over the literature of the world and he was especially versed in the Bible and its history.

Each evening he would tell Lowell the great stories of the Bible with a zest and color that made the Biblical characters living personalities in the mind's eye of the boy.

Later, when Lowell went to the Holy Land and had his historic adventures with Lawrence of Arabia and Lord Allenby, he said he felt he had known the Holy Land places all his life, so familiar had his father made the Bible to him.

It was truly the homeland of his spirit, because he had lived it in his mind many times before ever being there.

So don't rule out the powerful uses of romantic imagination to add charm and interest to your life.

Garbage Dump Complaint Aired

Hancock County commissioners met with a group of about 20 residents of Laurel Heights near Chester Friday afternoon to work out a solution to protests over the operation of a garbage dump.

The Laurel Heights group told commissioners at the meeting in New Cumberland that the dump had not been covered properly and was infested with rats.

Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and James Finley of Weirton ordered the dump closed and instructed the garbage collector in Chester to haul refuse to another site.

The officials also prohibited burning to prevent smoke in the area. The second dump is located farther from the homes of the protesting residents.

Commissioners, Assessor Tony Leon and Clerk Donald Stewart also met for an hour and a half with C. Howard Hardesty, state tax commissioner, from Charleston.

Don't flatten the meringue you are putting on a pie! Instead make swirls on the meringue with the back of a tablespoon and your topping will look really attractive.

Arrangements Aired For Cub Hobby Show

It also was announced a father-son event has been set May 27 at Camp McKinley, the Scout camp near Lisbon. Harold Taylor, cubmaster, asked every boy to participate in the city's Memorial Day parade May 30.

Plans were made for other summer events. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Chesnut of Glenmoor.

Early Spring Rolling Assures Better Lawn

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Writer For Bell Syndicate

No doubt everybody has noticed that during the winter season the lawns feel hard and lumpy under foot.

These lumps, which are caused by frost action, never quite disappear the following spring, and cause lawnmowers to jump and produce a far from smooth-looking lawn.

The best time of the year for rolling a lawn is after the last freeze and after a fairly heavy rain has softened the ground. When a lawn is rolled at that time, it smooths out and knits the grass-roots compactly.

The roller should not be too heavy or else it will produce ridges and grooves in the lawn. It should be used across the front of the house, parallel with the road or street to produce the best effect. If it is possible to roll several times during the spring, all the better.

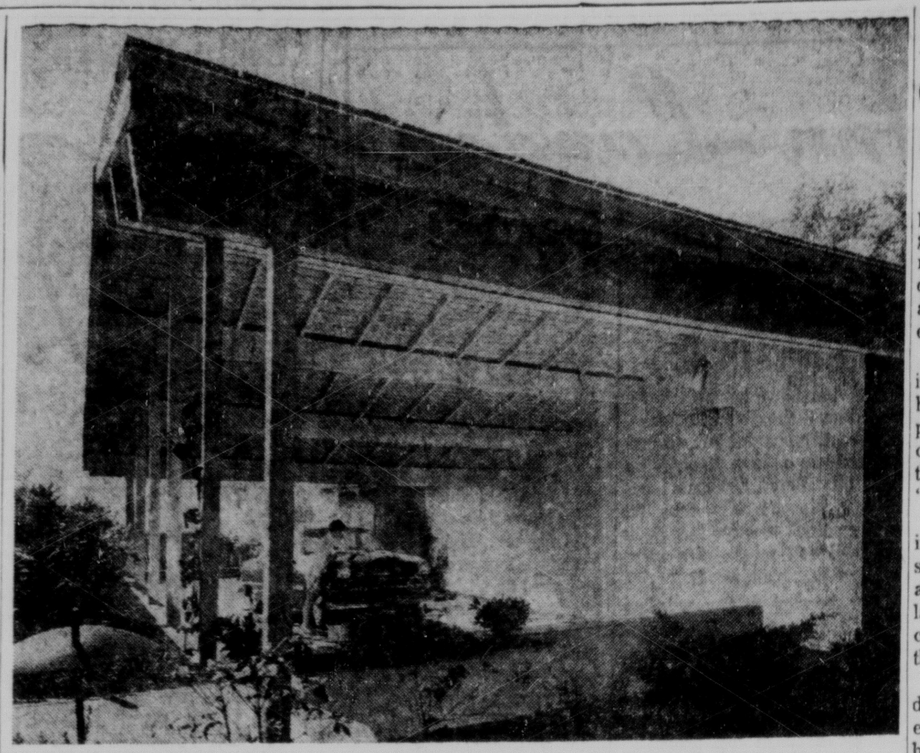
Where there is a distinct high spot in a lawn, it usually can be rolled out by soaking the surface with a hose until it is boggy, and then rolling it out and ironing it from all angles.

It is rather surprising how few people own a roller, but this is somewhat compensated for by the fact that many garden shops and hardware stores now rent rollers, cultivators and seed-spreaders as a part of their business.

If you want to make your own roller, all you need is a cylindrical form of some kind, several pieces of one-inch pipe cut to size and enough cement and sand to fill the form.

The job is done by standing the form on one end and centering a pipe or tube which is large enough to allow the one-inch pipe to pass through it. The cement and sand is then mixed and the form filled.

The pipe handle is next assembled, and you have a piece of equipment which should last a lifetime.



DRAMATIC THRUST OF THE CARPORT ROOF makes this home seem twice as large as it is. Roof is supported on Douglas fir columns and fir beams that extend from interior of the house. Placed at the front of the house, this spectacular canopy also shelters the front entrance walk, which lies at a higher level than the carport floor. Elegant, light stained fir siding increases carport's opulence.

Ventilation Of Attic Adds To Comfort

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Bell Syndicate

While insulation is one of the most important improvements made in house building, it is entirely inadequate unless it is accompanied by some of the other and older procedures for securing a comfortable dwelling.

By that we mean that a fully insulated house is no warmer in the winter than a poorly built shack, unless it has a heating plant. A fully insulated house is no more comfortable during the summer than a closed-up canvas tent, unless it is properly ventilated. When sensible measures are taken, insulation doubles their value.

One of the greatest mistakes made these days is the failure to ventilate the attic of a house. If a roof is insulated, or the floor of the attic insulated without provision being made for ventilation, the attic soon will become a furnace.

The high temperature developed there soon will transfer itself to the ceiling of the floor below and from there to the interior walls. If you doubt it, just climb on a chair and place your hand against the ceiling on a good hot day. The insulation will do its part in throwing back the heat, but you have to help it be seeing that there is an escape for any heat generated.

Windows in an attic are fine, but you always have the problem of running up and down to shut them during storms.

Unless rooms are finished off in the attic, the most economical means of ventilation, and the least amount of trouble, is found in the ready-to-install louvres. These triangular aluminum assemblies are very easy to install.

They cost but a fracton of the price of windows and are set where they do the most good; right up close to the peak of the roof, where summer temperatures are the highest.

Be comfortable this summer. The cost is little and the results are great.

Time - saver: small racks holding measuring cups and spoons hung over or near a counter where baking or other food preparation is done.

Preparation Clears Stage For Paint Job

NEW YORK — Do-it-yourself painters have never had it so good, what with the easily applied modern paints — particularly the quick-drying, odorless latexes — and the fast-moving rollers of every type and size.

You will eliminate any confusion and speed your redecorating, however, if you follow a simple preparation routine. Many things can be done days in advance of the actual painting so that on "P-Day" you can dip right in.

Start at the top with the ceiling. Areas that need replastering should be patched, smoothed and allowed to dry according to the label instructions on the patching compound. It's a good idea to do this a few days beforehand.

Strip the windows. Curtains and drapes can be laundered or cleaned so they will be ready for rehanging as soon as the paint dries —which is only a matter of an hour or even less. This is a good time to pop venetian blinds into the tub for a thorough scrubbing.

Take down pictures, mirrors and other wall decorations. Clean and cover with newspaper. Place them in a convenient spot, away from the working area. Incidentally, keep in mind that dingy or marred frames can be renewed with colorful paint or the equally attractive gold or silver metallic coatings.

Move furniture to the center of the room. Before covering it with drop cloths or old sheets, give it the eagle-eye. If a piece looks a bit the worse for wear, don't cover it with the cloth; cover it with some fresh paint. Painted furniture is the height of home fashion these days.

Roll up the rug. If it needs cleaning, send it off ahead of painting time. It will be out of your way and back in time for the newly painted room.

Dust the walls. It's a cinch with the vacuum cleaner attachment or use a long handled dust mop covered with clean flannel. Go over woodwork with soap and water to remove smudges. If the kitchen or bathroom is the object of your attentions, sponge the walls to remove grease.

Then check the walls for holes or cracks. Fill with putty or commercial filler, let dry and sand smooth. At the same time, sand any areas of high gloss. Roughening them will make better adhesion for the paint.

Remove or loosen hardware, such as doorknobs and lighting fixtures. This is the opportune time to give them a military polishing. Fixtures which have not been removed should be protected with masking tape while the painting is in progress.

The room is ready. Are you? Do you have everything to help you such as disposable mixing buckets, roller sleeves and gloves? And don't forget some paint paddles for thorough mixing. These items are worth their weight in gold but cost next to nothing; don't deprive yourself of their usefulness.

You probably have decided what type and color paint you want. If not, your dealer can help you choose. But whatever kind or color you wish, make sure it is a quality brand made by a reputable manufacturer. Quality paint is cheaper in the long run because it goes on easier, lasts longer and retains its color brilliance better.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Is there any way I can renovate the rubber dish drainer or tray on my sink, when it has become old and sticky?

A. After you have allowed the drainer or tray to dry thoroughly, apply some shellac, varnish, or ordinary paint to it — and your troubles should be over!

Q. Can you suggest an easy way to deal with dandelion in my lawn?

Dip an ice pick into gasoline and thrust it into the heart of the dandelion plant. It will kill the weed with little damage to the grass.

Advice Offered On Home Repairs

The Chamber of Commerce reminded East Liverpool area householders today to investigate before signing contracts for home repairs, remodeling and improvements.

Although the vast majority of contractors deal fairly with their customers, there is a minority on the fringe of the business which uses sharp practices to victimize the public, the Chamber warned. Arrival of pleasant weather means that many householders are assessing the ravages of time and weather on their homes and are planning improvements to keep them in good repair.

To aid householders in avoiding unscrupulous contractors, the community protection service of the Chamber issued 27 questions for them to answer before signing contracts for home improvements:

1.—Is the company with which you are considering doing business an established firm, or is it composed of itinerants who "just happen to be in the area"?

2.—Do you know, or have you investigated to determine before signing a contract, that the company under consideration enjoys a good reputation for performing satisfactorily?

3.—Have you checked with a few home owners in the general area who have dealt with the firm a year or two ago to determine their satisfaction? Any reputable contractor will give you the names of satisfied customers in your area — if he has some.

4.—Was any "high pressure" used to induce you to sign a contract immediately, without giving you an opportunity to investigate?

5.—Did the company or salesman tell you that your home would be used for advertising purposes — as a model job or show house — and that you would receive "bonus" payments or commissions on every sale resulting therefrom?

6.—Was any "bait" practice used to induce you to respond to an offer; that is, did the firm quote a low price in an advertisement and then "knock" the product advertised and try to switch you to something higher-priced?

7.—Does the contract contain the name and address of the company; specifications such as type and extent of work; when to be done or completed; descriptions of materials such as quality, grade or name, weight, color, style, etc.; total cost, finance charges, etc.?

8.—If any guarantee is given, is it included in the contract, clear and specific as to what adjustment will be made in the event of dissatisfaction?

9.—If long-time guarantees are offered, have you reason to believe that the company will be in existence or financially able or willing to fulfill the guarantee, 10 or 15 or 20 years later?

10.—Have you obtained more than one bid on the same job on exactly the same specifications?

11.—Is the company under consideration authorized to represent the manufacturer they claim to represent?

12.—Does the company have liability and compensation insurance to protect you in the event of accident?

13.—Do you know by what bank or financing agency your contract or note would be financed?

14.—Before signing a contract, have you consulted your own bank or financing agency about financing this job?

15.—To arrange for an FHA insured loan, or a loan from your bank, or by mortgage on your home, or by refinancing your mortgage, have you secured estimates or quotations on the job, in order to consult the bank before signing a contract?

16.—Has it been represented that FHA has anything to do with performance of the company or guarantee of the job — other than merely insuring the loan granted by your bank?

17.—If work is to be sublet, will you be protected against liens on your home? Has your attorney reviewed any contract?

18.—Regarding any repairs for which you expect to collect insurance, have you checked with the insurance company first, and before signing a contract?

22.—Are you asked to sign a contract, or any other form or forms, in blank?

23.—Have you read and do you understand contract completely before signing, and are you to be given complete, readable copy signed by salesman or company?

24.—Does your contract promise labor only, and must you pay in advance for or furnish all materials?

25.—Are you asked to pay in advance, or to pay cash to a salesman instead of by check or money order to the company itself?

26.—Do you know that if your note or contract is sold to a third party, you may be obligated to them, regardless of any complaint about the job?

City Building Work Shows Gain In April

Despite poor construction weather in April, permits totaling $26,750 for new construction and remodeling were issued by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office.

The estimated cost is up $9,750 from the $17,000 authorized in March. Eight permits, the same number as authorized in March, and three tear down permits were issued in April.

A new storage building for a scrap firm and a new home accounted for more than half the total last month.

Sam Caplan was issued a permit to erect a steel storage building on the River Rd. at an estimated cost of $10,000. The scrap firm is being transferred to the riverfront property because its lot at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. was acquired for the right-of-way for the new city expressway.

Tri - State Building, Inc. of Youngstown, to remodel home at 1043 Pennsylvania Ave., $4,500.

Lacquering Can Be Done With A Brush

It would be a good idea in your case, to practice on some scrap wood before going to work on the table. Be sure to buy what is called brushing lacquer. Mix it in 50-50 combination with lacquer thinner. The important thing to remember is that lacquer begins to dry the moment you apply it.

That means that you must work fast, overlapping the previous strokes slightly. It also means that you cannot go back over a spot a second time. Lacquer is highly volatile. It should be used either outdoors or, if that is impractical, where there is plenty of ventilation.

To get back to what you have been told, applying lacquer with a sprayer is not the only proper way to do it, although it is considered the best way by professional finishers.

If you are breading four slices of veal cutlet, to make four portions, you'll need to use a slightly-beaten egg and one-half cup of fine dry bread crumbs.

Two Purposes Served By Painting Of Fence

AP Newsfeatures

Painting the fence not only will remove it from the eyesore category, it will prolong its life by protecting it from the elements.

Probably the best and quickest way to paint a wire fence is with a long-napped roller which will "embrace" the wire and coat the surface in a single pass. Rollers also speed the painting of fences made of round iron bars or rods. Square rods may require brush treatment.

If there is any rust, it should be removed with steel wool, followed by a brushing to take off any loose dirt. Galvanized wire fences require a special primer known as zinc dust-zinc oxide paint or, if that is not available, a zinc cromate primer.

After the primer coat has dried hard, follow with a decorative top coat of exterior enamel. You can match the color of the house, the color of the trim or any contrasting color.

The construction of the wooden fence will determine, to a large degree, the best method of application. If the boards and slats touch each other, you can use a regular house paint brush, a larger roller or a spray gun.

If the space between the boards or pickets is small, a smaller brush or roller will be better. It may be possible to coat both edges of adjacent slats at the same time with a slim roller.

New wooden fencing, as well as bare spots on old fences, should be given an initial coat of house paint primer.

This should be followed, when dry, with regular house paint in the color of your choice, or you can use trim and trellis paint or exterior enamel.

If you have some kind of a masonry fence or wall, it requires a paint that will resist the alkali present in cement, concrete and mortar.

Good service will be given by exterior latex masonry or house paints, swimming pool paints or oil-modified masonry paints.

Inn Gives 'Boot' To Damp Hikers, Senator, Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman innkeeper said today a drenched troop of hikers—including a Supreme Court justice, a senator and a Cabinet member—turned her place into a picnic area without so much as a "by your leave."

"I came in and found them like sardines in my cocktail lounge, sitting on the bar and eating their own food," said the innkeeper, Mrs. John T. Reges.

Mrs. Reges, the wife of the proprietor of the Old Anglers Inn reacted swiftly: "In a loud voice—in German—I told my maitre d,' 'I will give you 10 minutes to get these people out of here."

"After they were gone," said Mrs. Reges, "I found out who they were. If they had asked me first, I would have made arrangements, given them a room to dry out in, made them tea. But they didn't ask, they just came in."

The hikers, about 170 strong, were nearing the end of a sodden 16-mile course along the old C&O Canal route from Seneca, Md., to Washington Saturday when they stopped at the inn near the Great Falls of the Potomac. Among them were Justice William O. Douglas, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Rolls Royce May Become 'Extinct'

LONDON (AP) — The Rolls-Royce, limousine of the truly opulent, may be on the way out.

The company that has built plush autos for kings, oil rich sheikhs, millionaires and film stars faces a financial crisis.

The trouble is caused by the recent British government law limiting to 2,000 pounds—$5,600—the income tax deduction for automobiles for company executives.

Lord Kindersley, chairman of Rolls-Royce, has warned the government that his company has been so hard hit by the tax law the firm's car division may have to cease production.

In less than three weeks since Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd's budget proposal, the Rolls order book has shrunk by 75 per cent.

Rolls price tags range upward from 6,000 pounds—$16,800. The Crewe plant produces only 2,400 a year and about half of them go in export. In January the wait for a new rolls was 12 months.

Since the budget the wait has dropped to four to five months and within eight weeks delivery is expected to be "immediate."

Advice Offered On Home Repairs

The Chamber of Commerce reminded East Liverpool area householders today to investigate before signing contracts for home repairs, remodeling and improvements.

Although the vast majority of contractors deal fairly with their customers, there is a minority on the fringe of the business which uses sharp practices to victimize the public, the Chamber warned. Arrival of pleasant weather means that many householders are assessing the ravages of time and weather on their homes and are planning improvements to keep them in good repair.

To aid householders in avoiding unscrupulous contractors, the community protection service of the Chamber issued 27 questions for them to answer before signing contracts for home improvements:

1.—Is the company with which you are considering doing business an established firm, or is it composed of itinerants who "just happen to be in the area"?

2.—Do you know, or have you investigated to determine before signing a contract, that the company under consideration enjoys a good reputation for performing satisfactorily?

3.—Have you checked with a few home owners in the general area who have dealt with the firm a year or two ago to determine their satisfaction? Any reputable contractor will give you the names of satisfied customers in your area — if he has some.

4.—Was any "high pressure" used to induce you to sign a contract immediately, without giving you an opportunity to investigate?

5.—Did the company or salesman tell you that your home would be used for advertising purposes — as a model job or show house — and that you would receive "bonus" payments or commissions on every sale resulting therefrom?

6.—Was any "bait" practice used to induce you to respond to an offer; that is, did the firm quote a low price in an advertisement and then "knock" the product advertised and try to switch you to something higher-priced?

7.—Does the contract contain the name and address of the company; specifications such as type and extent of work; when to be done or completed; descriptions of materials such as quality, grade or name, weight, color, style, etc.; total cost, finance charges, etc.?

8.—If any guarantee is given, is it included in the contract, clear and specific as to what adjustment will be made in the event of dissatisfaction?

9.—If long-time guarantees are offered, have you reason to believe that the company will be in existence or financially able or willing to fulfill the guarantee, 10 or 15 or 20 years later?

10.—Have you obtained more than one bid on the same job on exactly the same specifications?

11.—Is the company under consideration authorized to represent the manufacturer they claim to represent?

12.—Does the company have liability and compensation insurance to protect you in the event of accident?

13.—Do you know by what bank or financing agency your contract or note would be financed?

14.—Before signing a contract, have you consulted your own bank or financing agency about financing this job?

15.—To arrange for an FHA insured loan, or a loan from your bank, or by mortgage on your home, or by refinancing your mortgage, have you secured estimates or quotations on the job, in order to consult the bank before signing a contract?

16.—Has it been represented that FHA has anything to do with performance of the company or guarantee of the job — other than merely insuring the loan granted by your bank?

17.—If work is to be sublet, will you be protected against liens on your home? Has your attorney reviewed any contract?

18.—Regarding any repairs for which you expect to collect insurance, have you checked with the insurance company first, and before signing a contract?

19.—Are the things you want done specified clearly in the contract?

20.—Does the contract contain the important verbal representations on which you depend for satisfaction?

21.—Does the contract contain the provision for payment of damages by you if you cancel the contract?

22.—Are you asked to sign a contract, or any other form or forms, in blank?

23.—Have you read and do you understand contract completely before signing, and are you to be given complete, readable copy signed by salesman or company?

24.—Does your contract promise labor only, and must you pay in advance for or furnish all materials?

25.—Are you asked to pay in advance, or to pay cash to a salesman instead of by check or money order to the company itself?

26.—Do you know that if your note or contract is sold to a third party, you may be obligated to them, regardless of any complaint about the job?

27.—Are you asked to sign a completion certificate for the job by appeal, threat, or trick, before the job is properly completed?

City Building Work Shows Gain In April

Despite poor construction weather in April, permits totaling $26,750 for new construction and remodeling were issued by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office.

The estimated cost is up $9,750 from the $17,000 authorized in March. Eight permits, the same number as authorized in March, and three tear down permits were issued in April.

A new storage building for a scrap firm and a new home accounted for more than half the total last month.

Sam Caplan was issued a permit to erect a steel storage building on the River Rd. at an estimated cost of $10,000. The scrap firm is being transferred to the riverfront property because its lot at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. was acquired for the right-of-way for the new city expressway.

Norman Neal was issued a permit to erect a one-story ranch-type home on Etruria St. at an estimated cost of $8,000.

Other persons to whom permits were issued, the work authorized and the estimated cost:

Tri - State Building, Inc. of Youngstown, to remodel home at 1043 Pennsylvania Ave., $4,500.

John Graham, to remodel home at 336 W. Church Ln., $2,000. E. C. Owens, to erect one-room addition at 809 Ohio Ave., $1,500.

Never On Sunday? Not For Hawkins, He Wins 3rd In Row

N. Waterford Ace Pitches 4-Hitter

The 25-year-old right - hander from New Waterford, Ohio, has a 3-0 record and all the victories were posted on Sundays. The latest was a four-hit, 4-2 decision over the Washington Senators. The Indians lost the nightcap of a twinbill, however, 4-3, when they failed to come through in the clutch, despite 13 hits.

Hawkins appeared to be a major leaguer a year ago, but ran into trouble and was sent down to Toronto last July. The time was well spent, however. He won seven of 10 with the International League champs.

"I'm a better pitcher for it," Hawkins said after his latest complete game, second in a week. "I was making too many bad pitches.

"They'd come in streaks and then somebody would have a big inning against me. I think I know more about the batters this season . . . So far I've managed to keep loose most of the time. That's important.

"The only thing I have to guard against is feeling too strong," said the former Baldwin-Wallace College basketball star. "That may seem strange, but with too much rest I find myself throwing the ball too hard.

"I lose my control and that's something I have to have." Hawkins walked three Senators and struck out three. His earned run average is 1.17.

Slim Wynn—a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder—fed the Senators his dipping forkball and was in control all the way. The Indians snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth frame with a three-run burst. Two tallies crossed on Bubba Phillips' double.

Johnny Temple, still the league's leading hitter at .408, had his 19-game hitting skein snapped in the opener. But he roared back with three hits in the nightcap.

Gene Woodling, who hit a solo homer off Hawkins in the ninth inning of the opener, hit a big three-run blast in the sixth frame of the nightcap off Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Trailing 3-1, the Indians scored single runs in the sixth and seventh to draw even. But then, with Frank Funk pitching, Dale Long singled and scored on Willie Tasby's single after Funk uncorked a wild pitch to get Long to second base.

The Tribe seemed to have a comeback started in the ninth on singles by Tito Francona and Jim Piersall with one out. But Marty Kutyna came in from the bullpen and made Woodie Held rap into a game-ending double play.

"We may be leading the league in hitting, but we can't get that man in from third," moaned Dykes.

Haddix Goes To Mound In Opener With Frisco

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The waning Pittsburgh Pirates open a crucial three-game series against the San Francisco Giants tonight at Forbes Field. It's the toughest spot the Bucs have been in all season.

Pittsburgh enters the game in third place in the National League, two and a half games behind the league-leading Giants.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who's looked pretty good in compiling a 1-0 record so far this year in two games, will start for Pittsburgh.

The Pirates were pushed back into third place Sunday as they lost 4-2 to Los Angeles at Forbes Field while Cincinnati moved into second place by sweeping a doubleheader from Milwaukee.

Pittsburgh picked up a run in the third inning and Buc starter George Witt mowed down the first 16 Dodger batters without a hit. Then the roof fell in.

Jackie Jensen Plans Return To Red Sox

Jensen, who left the club without permission a week ago Saturday night, phoned Vice President Dick O'Connell Sunday night and said he was enroute to Los Angeles where he will contact Manager Mike Higgins.

Braves Stunned Twice By Reds

3 Homers Top Bucs, 4-2

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati made it eight in a row Sunday and climbed into second place in the National League. The Reds swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 5-4 and 4-0. First place San Francisco blanked Philadelphia 7-0, Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Chicago 4-2.

Cincinnati turned on the home run power when four out of five batters — Frank Robinson, Wally Post, Leo Cardenas and Gordy Coleman—hit Warren Spahn for homers in a 5-4 first game victory over Milwaukee. Jim O'Toole then shut out the Braves with five hits 4-0 in the second game.

Billy Loes, the unpredictable one, pitched the league-leading San Francisco Giants to a 7-0 triumph, holding the Philadelphia Phillies to seven hits. Loes, a relief man when he was traded to the Giants by Baltimore in November 1959, now has a 3-1 record as a starter and a 3.50 earned run average. A year ago his ERA was 12.00.

Los Angeles flexed its muscles at Pittsburgh where homers by Charlie Neal, Norm Larker and Frank Howard gave the Dodgers a 4-2 decision over the defending world champs. Sandy Koufax, with fine relief help from Larry Sherry, was the winner over George Witt, making his first start for the Pirates.

St. Louis' Ernie Broglio retired the last 14 men in a row as the Cardinals climbed up to the .500 mark by beating Chicago 4-2 in a game called after five innings because of rain. A scheduled second game was washed out.

Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey backed up Loes' pitching by hitting home runs at Philadelphia. Cepeda's fifth of the year came with two on in the four-run sixth inning, dooming Robin Roberts to his fifth straight defeat.

The Reds exploded against Spahn in the eighth and ninth, just when the 40-year-old lefty appeared headed for his fourth victory and 53rd shutout. Leading 4-0 with one out, Spahn gave up homers to Robinson and Post before he retired Gene Freese. In the ninth the first two up, Cardenas and Coleman applied the crusher.

Koufax ran into trouble in the seventh at Pittsburgh but Sherry bailed him out in fine style. Witt retired the first 16 Dodgers before throwing up a home run ball to Neal in the sixth. Larker hit a two-run homer in the seventh and Frank Howard slammed his fifth of the year in the same inning.

Broglio had a rough first inning when the Cubs scored two runs but settled down for the rest of the abbreviated contest. Julian Javier's two-run double in the second was the winner.

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sam Snead, golf's all-time leading money winner and the oldest man in the nation to win a major tournament, heads for the West Virginia hills today, richer by $10,000.

Snead, who'll be 49 May 27, finally added the Tournament of Champions to his roll of victories, breezing in Sunday by seven strokes.

After a shaky start, Snead put on the pressure in the final nine holes to shoot a three-under-par 69 and a 72-hole score of 273, 15 blows under par.

Tommy hung on to take second place and $5,000 with a 71.

Bill Collins' 69 gave him 281 and $3,000. Bob Rosburg, with a 68 for 282, and Doug Ford, with a 73 for 283, were next in line.

Jay Hebert, the leader in the first two rounds, shot a 73 for 284 and a tie with South Africa's Gary Player and Canada's Stan Leonard. Each had a 74.

Tommy Bolt 67-69-73-71 — 280— 5,000

Bill Collins 71-68-73-69 — 281 — $3,000

Bob Rosburg 73-70-71-68 — 282 — $2,500

Doug Ford 67-69-74-73 — 283 — $2,100

Jay Hebert 66-67-78-73 — 284 — $1,760

Rain Halts Preview For County Loop

Rain forced cancellation of two of the three games which were schedtiled in Sunday's County-City League Baseball preview at East Palestine.

The game between Cox - Merchants of East Liverpool and Columbiana and the Salem Negley contest were postponed.

The regular season will open next Sunday with the Cox - Merchants playing at East Palestine in a 2 p. m. game while Leetonia visits Negley and Columbiana goes to Salem.

Open Up 2½-Game Lead

Tigers Start New Streak

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit stretched its winning streak to five and opened a 2½ game lead in the American League Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 8-6 and 5-3 as the New York Yankees lost 5-3 to Los Angeles.

In other Sunday games Cleveland and Washington split. The Indians took the first game 4-2 and Washington the second 4-3. Boston beat Minnesota 11-9 in a single and Kansas City beat Baltimore 5-4 in 10 innings in the first of a scheduled twin bill. The second game was rained out.

The Yankees, who live by the home run died by the home run over the weekend when the Angels beat them with their own weapon.

The friendly fences proved too handy for the Angels who hit seven home runs to the Yanks' four in the three-game series. Instead of a tape measure for Mickey Mantle's clouts they needed a statistician to figure that 0 for 11 dropped his average from .348 to .299.

Leon Wagner, rescued from the International League by his old boss, Manager Bill Rigney, drove in three runs with a two-run homer and double in a 5-3 Los Angeles victory Sunday. Wagner also hit two homers and a triple in Saturday night's Angel triumph.

Albie Pearson, who also homered Saturday, and Gene Leek joined Wagner Sunday while Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard hit the ball out of the park for the Yanks.

Detroit's rollicking Tigers opened up a 2½ game lead while the Yanks were having their troubles on the West Coast. The Tigers bopped Chicago twice 8-6 and 5-3, running their own winning streak to five and the Sox' losing string to seven. The double defeat put Chicago into 10th and last place.

Rookie Chuck Schilling knocked in six runs with a grand slam homer and a two-run double in Boston's 11-9 decision over the Minnesota Twins. Harmon Killebrew homered twice for the Twins.

Kansas City shaded Baltimore 5-4 in 10 innings on Norm Siebern's single in the first game. Rain washed out the second.

Those Tigers show no signs of letting up. They haven't lost a series this year and slashed a total of 50 hits in a four-game sweep over the White Sox.

Roy Sievers hit two homers for the Sox in the opener, one of them with the bases full, but the Tigers came up with five in the seventh and scored the winning run on Bob Shaw's wild pitch. Jake Wood added an insurance run with a homer in the eighth.

Rocky Colavito homered in the second game as Phil Regan went all the way with an eight-hitter, beating Cal McLish.

Schilling was the big noise for the Red Sox with his grand slammer in the fourth and double in the eighth as Mike Fornieles won on relief over Camilo Pascual.

They started the second game in Kansas City but had to stop play in the third with the A's leading 2-0 because of the rain. Siebern's winning hit in the 10th inning of the first game followed a double by Jerry Lumpe and an error by Jackie Brandt.

Never On Sunday? Not For Hawkins, He Wins 3rd In Row

N. Waterford Ace Pitches 4-Hitter

The 25-year-old right - hander from New Waterford, Ohio, has a 3-0 record and all the victories were posted on Sundays. The latest was a four-hit, 4-2 decision over the Washington Senators. The Indians lost the nightcap of a twinbill, however, 4-3, when they failed to come through in the clutch, despite 13 hits.

Hawkins appeared to be a major leaguer a year ago, but ran into trouble and was sent down to Toronto last July. The time was well spent, however. He won seven of 10 with the International League champs.

"I'm a better pitcher for it," Hawkins said after his latest complete game, second in a week. "I was making too many bad pitches.

"They'd come in streaks and then somebody would have a big inning against me. I think I know more about the batters this season . . . So far I've managed to keep loose most of the time. That's important.

"The only thing I have to guard against is feeling too strong," said the former Baldwin-Wallace College basketball star. "That may seem strange, but with too much rest I find myself throwing the ball too hard.

"I lose my control and that's something I have to have." Hawkins walked three Senators and struck out three. His earned run average is 1.17.

Slim Wynn—a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder—fed the Senators his dipping forkball and was in control all the way. The Indians snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth frame with a three-run burst. Two tallies crossed on Bubba Phillips' double.

Johnny Temple, still the league's leading hitter at .408, had his 19-game hitting skein snapped in the opener. But he roared back with three hits in the nightcap.

Gene Woodling, who hit a solo homer off Hawkins in the ninth inning of the opener, hit a big three-run blast in the sixth frame of the nightcap off Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Trailing 3-1, the Indians scored single runs in the sixth and seventh to draw even. But then, with Frank Funk pitching, Dale Long singled and scored on Willie Tasby's single after Funk uncorked a wild pitch to get Long to second base.

The Tribe seemed to have a comeback started in the ninth on singles by Tito Francona and Jim Piersall with one out. But Marty Kutyna came in from the bullpen and made Woodie Held rap into a game-ending double play.

"We may be leading the league in hitting, but we can't get that man in from third," moaned Dykes.

Braves Stunned Twice By Reds

3 Homers Top Bucs, 4-2

Haddix Goes To Mound In Opener With Frisco

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The waning Pittsburgh Pirates open a crucial three-game series against the San Francisco Giants tonight at Forbes Field. It's the toughest spot the Bucs have been in all season.

Pittsburgh enters the game in third place in the National League, two and a half games behind the league-leading Giants.

A sweep of the series would put the Pirates back in the driver's seat, but a sweep for the Giants would boot Pittsburgh way down the ladder.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who's looked pretty good in compiling a 1-0 record so far this year in two games, will start for Pittsburgh.

The Pirates were pushed back into third place Sunday as they lost 4-2 to Los Angeles at Forbes Field while Cincinnati moved into second place by sweeping a doubleheader from Milwaukee.

Pittsburgh picked up a run in the third inning and Buc starter George Witt mowed down the first 16 Dodger batters without a hit. Then the roof fell in.

Charlie Neal homered in the sixth, then Norm Laker blasted a two-run homer in the seventh and Frank Howard followed with another round-tripper.

Jackie Jensen Plans Return To Red Sox

Jensen, who left the club without permission a week ago Saturday night, phoned Vice President Dick O'Connell Sunday night and said he was enroute to Los Angeles where he will contact Manager Mike Higgins.

Carry Back, Crozier To Mark Time Until Second Meeting In Preakness

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Is Carry Back a great horse, a good one or just the best of an ordinary lot of 3-year olds?

This question was hashed and re-hashed by experts and laymen today as they ran and re-ran the smashing come-from-behind victory of one of the turf's greatest bargains in the 87th Kentucky Derby Saturday at Churchill Downs.

The consensus was that a gamer race horse never came roaring down the Derby's heartbreak final one-quarter mile, which has tested most of the nation's greatest since 1875.

Jack Price, who trains Carry Back for his wife, Katherine, called him "best of a poor lot." But he had a twinkle in his eye and admitted he said it with tongue in cheek.

Price had nothing but praise for Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, who apparently had the race won and then dropped the decision by three-quarters of a length as jockey Sellers brought Carry Back down the middle of the track.

Crozier is going to take another crack at the champ in the May 20 running of the Preakness at Pimlico, the second jewel in the triple crown, the final is the Belmont Stakes June 3 in New York.

Carry Back will go down as one of the greatest bargains. Price paid $300 for Joppy, Carry Back's dam who died recently at Ocala, Fla. He bred Joppy to Saggy, called an unfashionable stud whose chief claim to fame was victory over Citation in a sprint race in 1948.

"Saggy's stud fee was $500," said Price, "but I got a discount by breeding three mares at the same time. The total cost was $1,200. That makes Carry Back's original investment $700. He picked up $120,500 of the $163,000 Derby purse to boost his bank account to $612,868 on 10 victories, 5 seconds and 5 thirds in 29 starts.

Latest Decisions Push Reds' Win Streak To 8

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hey! Those Cincinnati Reds have done a turnabout and are rolling in the National League.

After losing eight straight, the Reds have bounced back with an eight-game winning streak to move into second place, two games behind the pace-setting San Francisco Giants.

Cincinnati boosted its season record to 13-10 by sweeping a doubleheader from the Milwaukee Braves 5-4 and 4-0 Sunday with a late home run barrage in the opener and southpaw Jim O'Toole's clutch pitching in the nightcap.

"On the basis of the ball we've played and are capable of playing, we're a pretty good ball club," said Manager Fred Hutchinson with an air of confidence.

"Our pitching has been remarkably good," Hutch said. "We even had good pitching during the losing streak. We really lost some tough ones—1-0, 2-1 and so on. Actually, we haven't been out of a game yet."

Reminded he had predicted that no National League Club would go on a long winning streak, Hutchinson replied: "Yeah, but I didn't think we'd lose eight straight, either."

Dave Erb, who rode Needles to victory in the 1956 Kentucky Derby, now trains thoroughbreds.

Minor League Meets At Wellsville Tuesday

Plans for the season will be discussed at a meeting of the Wellsville Minor Baseball League Tuesday night at 7:30 in Daw Junior High School. All parents and interested adults are urged to attend. Virgil Kornbau is league president.

Airline Resumes Service In Pact

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — National Airlines' 4,000 employes are returning to work for resumption—set Wednesday—of service shut down a week ago by a machinists' strike.

National planned to announce schedules today for first flights over its 32-city system spanning the South from Houston, Tex., to Miami and along the Eastern seaboard to Boston.

"It takes longer to put an airline back in service than it does to shut it down," an NAL spokesman said.

Issues over which the International Association of Machinists walked out are not settled. The union and company agreed Sunday to submit them to binding arbitration as proposed by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, and meanwhile to resume work and operations.

Labine Finds Sinker

"For three or four years it wouldn't break more than an inch or two," relates Labine. "Now its with me again and breaking real good."

Records Fall At Beaver County Meet

Seven records fell and one was tied as Hopewell captured the annual Beaver County track and field meet Saturday at the Midland High School stadium.

Hopewell compiled 42½ points to win over its nearest rival — Freedom — which scored 35. Beaver Falls finished third with 31, Aliquippa 25, Beaver 22½, Ambridge 17½, Ellwood City 13, New Brighton 12½, Midland 9, Rochester 2 and Riverside 0.

Midland's Milan Kosnovich was the only first place winner for the Leopards when he gained a three-way tie for first in the pole vault at 9-feet-6.

Parts Looted Off Of Autos On Sales Lot

Parts and accessories worth a total of $145 were stolen off autos in a weekend theft at the used car lot of Arb Motors, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

Timed at 4:30 p. m. Saturday, the police report said the thieves took a battery valued at $22, a set of four hubcaps worth $65, another set valued at $53 and a headlight rim valued at $5. The thievery occurred between 9 p. m. Friday and 6 a. m. Saturday, officers said.

Augustine Henderson said the burglars gained entrance via an unlocked window at the rear of the home. Clothing and drawers were scattered around the living room and bedrooms.

Clothing had been taken from closets and thrown onto the floor and bed clothing also was scattered, officers said. In the kitchen, salt, pepper and flour were dumped onto a table, police said.

Three other cases of theft and vandalism were reported over the weekend.

Mrs. Paul Franklin, 957 W. 8th St., reported a rear view mirror was stolen from her 1957 model auto while it was parked in West End between midnight Saturday and 7 a. m. Sunday.

Leonard Barnhouse, 329 W. 9th St., told police the windshield of his 1957 auto was broken, apparently by a hurled object, while it was parked in front of his house between 2 and 4 p. m. Sunday.

John Fisher, 801 Burford St., told police a six-volt battery was stolen from his 1952 model car between 7 p. m. Friday and 6 a.m. Saturday while it was parked at his home. He made the report at 8:45 p. m. Saturday.

LA Bowler Rolls Perfect Game In ABC Tourney

Masters play ends Wednesday.

Horn's was the 18th perfect game shot on ABC tournament lanes since the annual event began in 1901. It enabled him to post the highest total among the 64 finalists in the first masters round.

Teacher Wonders If She Has Monster

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) — There's a five foot robot named "Tobey" roaming around St. Joseph's school. And seventh grade teacher Claire Heinrich is wondering if she hasn't been responsible for creating a monster.

Miss Heinrich has in her class four pupils who breeze through regular lessons. Her problem: How do you keep them occupied while the rest of the class catches up?

She solved it by getting them to form a special "science club" and offering them a number of projects — including building Tobey.

The four — Michael Stevens, James Glendon and Dannis Saralino, all 12, and Joseph Grese, 13 — worked Saturdays in Michael's basement and in six weeks Tobey was a reality.

Plug in his cord and he walks on feet made from old vacuum cleaner rollers. He moves his arms, turns to look at you and winks — with the aid of two built-in motors. He's the pride of the school.

"What next, Miss Heinrich?"

Whittles Chessmen

CRAIG, Colo. (AP) — Lloyd Wilson likes to whittle, but with a purpose. He specializes in carving chessmen.

For example, he spent the better part of two winters whittling a set of chess pieces likened after Christian and Moslem characters.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Is Carry Back a great horse, a good one or just the best of an ordinary lot of 3-year olds?

This question was hashed and re-hashed by experts and laymen today as they ran and re-ran the smashing come-from-behind victory of one of the turf's greatest bargains in the 87th Kentucky Derby Saturday at Churchill Downs.

The consensus was that a gamer race horse never came roaring down the Derby's heartbreak final one-quarter mile, which has tested most of the nation's greatest since 1875.

Jack Price, who trains Carry Back for his wife, Katherine, called him "best of a poor lot." But he had a twinkle in his eye and admitted he said it with tongue in cheek.

Price had nothing but praise for Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, who apparently had the race won and then dropped the decision by three-quarters of a length as jockey Sellers brought Carry Back down the middle of the track.

Crozier is going to take another crack at the champ in the May 20 running of the Preakness at Pimlico, the second jewel in the triple crown, the final is the Belmont Stakes June 3 in New York.

Carry Back will go down as one of the greatest bargains. Price paid $300 for Joppy, Carry Back's dam who died recently at Ocala, Fla. He bred Joppy to Saggy, called an unfashionable stud whose chief claim to fame was victory over Citation in a sprint race in 1948.

"Saggy's stud fee was $500," said Price, "but I got a discount by breeding three mares at the same time. The total cost was $1,200. That makes Carry Back's original investment $700. He picked up $120,500 of the $163,000 Derby purse to boost his bank account to $612,868 on 10 victories, 5 seconds and 5 thirds in 29 starts.

Latest Decisions Push Reds' Win Streak To 8

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hey! Those Cincinnati Reds have done a turnabout and are rolling in the National League.

After losing eight straight, the Reds have bounced back with an eight-game winning streak to move into second place, two games behind the pace-setting San Francisco Giants.

Cincinnati boosted its season record to 13-10 by sweeping a doubleheader from the Milwaukee Braves 5-4 and 4-0 Sunday with a late home run barrage in the opener and southpaw Jim O'Toole's clutch pitching in the nightcap.

Overlooked by many in preseason pennant forecasts, the Reds are out to prove they rightfully belong among the flag contenders.

"On the basis of the ball we've played and are capable of playing, we're a pretty good ball club," said Manager Fred Hutchinson with an air of confidence.

Hutchinson credits the Cincinnati success to his pitching. And, as a former pitcher himself, he beams as he talks about his hurlers.

"Our pitching has been remarkably good," Hutch said. "We even had good pitching during the losing streak. We really lost some tough ones—1-0, 2-1 and so on. Actually, we haven't been out of a game yet."

Reminded he had predicted that no National League Club would go on a long winning streak, Hutchinson replied: "Yeah, but I didn't think we'd lose eight straight, either."

Dave Erb, who rode Needles to victory in the 1956 Kentucky Derby, now trains thoroughbreds.

Minor League Meets At Wellsville Tuesday

Plans for the season will be discussed at a meeting of the Wellsville Minor Baseball League Tuesday night at 7:30 in Daw Junior High School. All parents and interested adults are urged to attend. Virgil Kornbau is league president.

Airline Resumes Service In Pact

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — National Airlines' 4,000 employes are returning to work for resumption—set Wednesday—of service shut down a week ago by a machinists' strike.

National planned to announce schedules today for first flights over its 32-city system spanning the South from Houston, Tex., to Miami and along the Eastern seaboard to Boston.

"It takes longer to put an airline back in service than it does to shut it down," an NAL spokesman said.

Issues over which the International Association of Machinists walked out are not settled. The union and company agreed Sunday to submit them to binding arbitration as proposed by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, and meanwhile to resume work and operations.

When china and glasses are stored in the dining area, a kitchen cart near the dishwasher does a quick job in toting these utensils back and forth.

Labine Finds Sinker

"For three or four years it wouldn't break more than an inch or two," relates Labine. "Now its with me again and breaking real good."

How did he get it back?

"There's only one answer that I know of," explains Labine pointing to his torso. "Less weight. I'm down from 198 to 182."

Records Fall At Beaver County Meet

Seven records fell and one was tied as Hopewell captured the annual Beaver County track and field meet Saturday at the Midland High School stadium.

Hopewell compiled 42½ points to win over its nearest rival — Freedom — which scored 35. Beaver Falls finished third with 31, Aliquippa 25, Beaver 22½, Ambridge 17½, Ellwood City 13, New Brighton 12½, Midland 9, Rochester 2 and Riverside 0.

Midland's Milan Kosnovich was the only first place winner for the Leopards when he gained a three-way tie for first in the pole vault at 9-feet-6.

Parts Looted Off Of Autos On Sales Lot

Parts and accessories worth a total of $145 were stolen off autos in a weekend theft at the used car lot of Arb Motors, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

Timed at 4:30 p. m. Saturday, the police report said the thieves took a battery valued at $22, a set of four hubcaps worth $65, another set valued at $53 and a headlight rim valued at $5. The thievery occurred between 9 p. m. Friday and 6 a. m. Saturday, officers said.

A Henry Ave. home was ransacked thoroughly in a breaking and entering Saturday, but apparently nothing was taken, officers said.

Augustine Henderson said the burglars gained entrance via an unlocked window at the rear of the home. Clothing and drawers were scattered around the living room and bedrooms.

Clothing had been taken from closets and thrown onto the floor and bed clothing also was scattered, officers said. In the kitchen, salt, pepper and flour were dumped onto a table, police said.

Three other cases of theft and vandalism were reported over the weekend.

Mrs. Paul Franklin, 957 W. 8th St., reported a rear view mirror was stolen from her 1957 model auto while it was parked in West End between midnight Saturday and 7 a. m. Sunday.

Leonard Barnhouse, 329 W. 9th St., told police the windshield of his 1957 auto was broken, apparently by a hurled object, while it was parked in front of his house between 2 and 4 p. m. Sunday.

John Fisher, 801 Burford St., told police a six-volt battery was stolen from his 1952 model car between 7 p. m. Friday and 6 a.m. Saturday while it was parked at his home. He made the report at 8:45 p. m. Saturday.

LA Bowler Rolls Perfect Game In ABC Tourney

Alvin (Bud) Horn Jr. rolled the first perfect game in the 11-year history of the meet Sunday in his eighth and final qualifying game. The 300 score put Horn into the finals with a 1648 total.

Masters play ends Wednesday.

Horn's was the 18th perfect game shot on ABC tournament lanes since the annual event began in 1901. It enabled him to post the highest total among the 64 finalists in the first masters round.

Teacher Wonders If She Has Monster

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) — There's a five foot robot named "Tobey" roaming around St. Joseph's school. And seventh grade teacher Claire Heinrich is wondering if she hasn't been responsible for creating a monster.

Miss Heinrich has in her class four pupils who breeze through regular lessons. Her problem: How do you keep them occupied while the rest of the class catches up?

She solved it by getting them to form a special "science club" and offering them a number of projects — including building Tobey.

The four — Michael Stevens, James Glendon and Dannis Saralino, all 12, and Joseph Grese, 13 — worked Saturdays in Michael's basement and in six weeks Tobey was a reality.

Plug in his cord and he walks on feet made from old vacuum cleaner rollers. He moves his arms, turns to look at you and winks — with the aid of two built-in motors. He's the pride of the school.

"What next, Miss Heinrich?"

Whittles Chessmen

CRAIG, Colo. (AP) — Lloyd Wison likes to whittle, but with a purpose. He specializes in carving chessmen.

For example, he spent the better part of two winters whittling a set of chess pieces likened after Christian and Moslem characters.

Appetite, Hunger Differ In Quantity

Overeating makes resistance to overeating more difficult. This is not only physiologically true, but psychologically true. It takes a lot more will power to reduce if you cheat ... the reason being that cheaters really never get to know the feeling of satiety that can come with staying on a reducing diet.

Ida Jean Kain

Appetite and hunger are related, but the biggest difference in the two is one of quantity. Appetite is hunger plus a mental desire. In short, appetite is learned, hunger is instinctive.

The practice of overeating stretches the food capacity. For example, after you've returned from a vacation in which you have allowed your appetite free rein. it takes a bit of doing to get back to moderate - sized meals. Some people never do.

But if you eat that piece of pie, though you are really not hungry, that is catering to false appetite, and this is not only a fattening practice, but upsets the natural habit pattern that regulates your food intake.

Fairly continuous overindulgence can train the appetite regulator to delay the signals which warn you that you've had enough to eat ... until you've eaten too much.

Still if you eat less than you really want, it's easy to believe that you don't overeat.

Honestly analyze your eating habits and you'll be able to spot where the excess calories are coming from. If you're a housewife, it may be that you eat modest meals, but taste while cooking.

Or perhaps you habitually finish up Johnny's sandwich rather than throw it away. Or it could be social calories that tip the scales. Hostesses serve richer fare for company.

It's well to be aware of what can happen appetite-wise. Just two weeks of overeating can elevate your appetite. Unless you take disciplinary measures, one holiday season or short summer vacation can be the start of a serious weight problem.

ON THE BRIGHTER side, five days after the start of a protective low-calorie diet, you will be less hungry than you were the second day; three weeks later, you will have your appetite fairly well under control; and three months later, you will wonder why you ever wanted to eat the amount you formerly did.

If you doubt this, you have only to try it. Let me hear from you in three months.

Head Of Kiwanis Talks At Meeting Of City Key Club

The rules of parliamentary procedure were outlined by H. Judson English when the High School Key Club met Friday in the school.

The club completed plans for its annual Parents' Appreciation banquet May 17. The program will include installation of officers. Bill Jones, chairman, reported on plans for the coverdish event. He is treasurer.

A letter of thanks for Miss Edna Jones of the Columbiana County Cancer Fund Campaign was read by James English, president-elect. The club assisted in the soliciting and helped count donations.

The president reported the club has obtained a room in the Central School to be used as a Key Club office and said there is a possibility of opening a club library.

Advisors present included Merrill Hall and I. J. Vorndran.

Elyria Woman Hurt

LISBON — Mrs. William R. Bates of Elyria was treated at 7:30 a.m. Sunday by a local physician after she was struck in the face by a fishing plug at Guilford Lake. The plug penetrated her left eyelid and nose. Her husband was casting when the mishap occurred, police said.

Pupil Signups Slated At 2 Chester Schools

Pre-school registration for children entering school next fall will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Chester Washington and Central Schools.

The registration is set from 1 to 3:30 at Washington and from 1 to 3 at Central. At Central, Allen T. Allison, principal, said parents should bring the child's birth certificate and immunization cards. Children entering school for the first time must be 6 by Nov. 1.

Registration at Central will be from 1 to 2 and from 2 to 3, when children will visit teachers in classrooms and parents will meet in Room 206 to view pictures of the proposed new schools and to discuss the school program.

Refreshments will be served. In announcement of the Washington registration Saturday, the date was given incorrectly as today.
